

Japanese Spurn Contentions in American Note

Says 'Ideas and Principles of Past' Have Changed
NEW ORDER AIM

Tokio Answer Takes Up Points in Protest - One by One

Tokio—(17)—Japan today rejected all major contentions of the United States note of Oct. 6 protesting against "unwarranted interference" with American rights in China and declared that "ideas and principles of the past" no longer applied to the Chinese situation.

The Japanese reply, handed to Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, said in conclusion:

"In the face of the new situation any attempt to apply to the conditions of today and tomorrow the inapplicable ideas and principles of the past neither would contribute to the peace of east Asia nor solve the immediate issues."

The Japanese note, which had the approval of the cabinet and the sanction of Emperor Hirohito, declared Japan was engaged in establishing a new order in east Asia "which is an indispensable condition of Japan's very existence."

Plead Necessity
The note took up the points of the American protest one by one. On some points the allegations of the United States were denied. On others counter-arguments were offered. Elsewhere pleas of military necessity were made.

The Japanese reply was interpreted authoritatively as notice Japan considers that the new conditions created by her conquest of a large portion of China have rendered out-dated the international agreements concerning China reached immediately after the World war.

Already, responsible Japanese spokesmen have indicated a determination that such pacts as the 1922 nine-power treaty, by which Japan, the United States and seven other nations pledged themselves to respect China's territorial integrity and independence, should no longer bind the Japanese empire.

When Ambassador Grew presented the American note Oct. 6 he asked for a prompt reply, but the Japanese government deliberated long and carefully before answering.

The strongly-worded United States note had asked Japan to cease "unwarranted interference" with American rights in China, listing a long series of violations of American business and property rights.

Demanding that the "open door" for foreign trade be maintained in China, the note accused Japan of attempting to monopolize Chinese trade through setting up pseudo-Chinese monopolies and manipulating the currency of North China.

WAR CONTINUES
Shanghai—(17)—The undeclared Chinese-Japanese war went into its 500th day today with Chinese forces battling to defend their last strongholds as Japanese warplanes carried destruction to China's far borders.

From Changsha came scattered reports the Hunan provincial capital was being destroyed rapidly by fire, with heavy damage to American mission property.

The Anglo-American China Inland mission, the Hudson Taylor hospital and the American Evangelical Mission church, all within the walled city, were reported destroyed. Persons connected with the institutions were said to be safe.

Spare The Rod
When we were small children the stories that delighted us were "The Three Bears," "Jack and the Beanstalk," "Little Red Riding Hood"—all of them dealing with wicked giants, big bad wolves and ogres that would frighten even the most precious child. But now child book authors tell their tales effectively, minus the gruesome details and ending with a moral, designed to aid in child character building. We can't help but wonder if the future generation reacts as strongly to these moral lessons as we did to the birch stick!

WILL VISIT LONDON

London—(17)—Buckingham palace officials today announced President Albert Lebrun of France and his wife would pay a state visit to London March 21 to 24 on invitation of King George. They will be entertained in a manner comparable to the elaborate honors paid King Carol and Crown Prince Mahai of Rumania who left for home today after a state visit.

Young Machinist Under Arrest in Chicago Slaying

Confesses He Killed Woman Whose Body Was Found in Closet

Chicago—(17)—A young machinist was held today as the confessed slayer of Ella Pehrson, 35, comely cosmetics saleswoman whose nude body was found crammed into a closet of his room.

Emmett Moynihan, assistant state's attorney, said the man, Joseph Kadlecak, 27, confessed last night he stabbed the woman with an eight-inch kitchen knife when she resisted his advances.

Miss Pehrson was the daughter of August Pehrson, a Balaton, Minn., farmer. She sold perfume, cosmetics, and toiletries on regular calls to a group of clients, one of whom was Kadlecak.

Kadlecak was seized in front of a bank where he had made an appointment to meet a brother for the purpose of borrowing money. Detectives, suspecting he would need funds, had set a watch at the bank. Miss Pehrson was slain Wednesday night. Her body was found yesterday.

Kadlecak's version of the slaying, as reported by prosecutor Moynihan, was substantially as follows:

When Miss Pehrson screamed he struck her in the jaw and attempted to assault her. He choked her when she again screamed, then seized a knife lying on the nearby stove and stabbed her once in the throat and twice in the right breast.

Kadlecak then ripped off her clothing and assaulted her. Later, after visits to several taverns, he stuffed the body in the closet. He stayed at a hotel during the night and returned the next day for some belongings preparatory to leaving town.

One Dead, Another Critically Wounded In Family Quarrel

Portage—(17)—Doctors were hopeful today for the recovery of middle-aged Minnie Hagen, survivor of a Rio, Wis., farm family's quarrel which resulted in one death.

Reports from a Columbus hospital of the condition of Miss Hagen, who suffered a skull fracture and was weak from loss of blood, were favorable.

Sheriff Harry Hibner said there was no doubt that the woman's dead brother, Marcus "Mike" Hagen, 52, whose body was found behind the barn with his head shattered by a shotgun blast, had attacked his sister and then ended his life in remorse.

A bloodstained hammer, with which the woman apparently had been beaten about the head, was found lying beside her on the floor.

Hibner said the family argument began late Tuesday and that during it another brother, John, left the farm and went to Madison.

Indiana Woman Under Arrest in Shooting

Wabash, Ind.—(17)—An indictment charging Mrs. Rilla Harrell, 43, with first degree murder was returned today by the grand jury which investigated the fatal shooting of Paul Bartholomew, 47, one-armed Negro high school principal, in her home early last Saturday morning.

2,250 Products Are Involved in Trade Accords

Three Nations Hope Increased Trade Will Be Step to Peace

COOPERATION SEEN

Critics Say Some American Producers Will Lose by Agreements

Washington—(17)—The three greatest merchant nations—Great Britain, Canada and the United States—offered one another far-reaching tariff reductions today in the expressed hope of increasing foreign trade and thereby preserving world peace.

Historic commercial agreements, giving concessions on more than 2,250 products, were signed late yesterday in the mirrored East room of the White House.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada and Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, joined Secretary of State Hull in predicting that better international understanding and cooperation would result.

But from some quarters came assertions the agreements would place certain American producers in an unfair competitive position. Governors Aiken of Vermont and Barrows of Maine, both Republicans, declared the tariff concessions discriminated against New England.

John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal association, said the industry's hopes for substantial relief from the Canadian tariff barriers against American coal had not been realized.

Hails Agreements
On the other hand, Thomas J. Watson, president of the International Chamber of Commerce, called the documents "timely aid to international trade."

Federal officials estimated that between $1,500,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 in trade was directly or indirectly affected by the two agreements.

The principal concessions received by the United States from Great Britain were on agricultural products. All customs duties on American wheat, lamb, canned grapefruit and some fruit juices were removed; duties on rice, apples, pears and some canned fruits were reduced.

Dalhover Sent to Electric Chair

Last of Brady Gang Executed for Murder of Indiana Officer

Michigan City, Ind.—(17)—The last gangster of the Al Brady mob of midwestern killers, once described as the worst in the country, died in a swift federal execution today. Little red-haired James Dalhover of Madison, 32-year-old trigger man for the gang, paid in state prison's electric chair for the slaying of Paul V. Minneman, Logansport state policeman shot after the $2,500 Goodland State bank robbery May 25, 1937.

His death was as quick but more quiet than those of his fellow mobsters, Alfred Brady and Clarence Lee Shaffer, Jr., of Indianapolis. Federal agents shot the two to death when they captured Dalhover in Bangor, Maine, Oct. 12, 1937.

In nine brief minutes just after midnight, the condemned man was hustled from the death cell between two guards, strapped in the chair and electrocuted. Physicians pronounced him dead at 11 minutes after 12.

That ended the career of a gang once termed by J. Edgar Hoover, federal bureau of investigation chief, the "most vicious" in the United States. Brady and his henchmen boasted they would "make John Dillinger look like a piker." They were blamed for three killings and numerous robberies.

WOMAN ACQUITTED

Phil Urges Citizens to Give Thanks for Preservation of 'Ingredients of Democracy'

Madison—(17)—Governor LaFollette issued a Thanksgiving day proclamation today urging Wisconsin citizens to express their gratitude "that this great nation has preserved priceless ingredients of democracy."

The holiday falls on Nov. 24. The governor's proclamation said: "Ever since the gallant pioneers of 300 years ago blazed a new civilization in the North American wilderness, the people of America have set aside the last Thursday in November as a day of Thanksgiving and appreciation for the blessing which providence has bestowed."

"Troubled as we are by the mounting tide of intolerance and bigotry which has engulfed large portions of the world, we in America can yet be thankful that the heritage of freedom and speech and thought and religion for which our ancestors fought, has been preserved. We are grateful that this great nation has preserved the priceless ingredients of democracy and we pray that democracy may more than ever become a living instrument to solve the great problems which perplex our people."

14-Year-Old Bride Doesn't Want to See Husband, 62, Again

Los Angeles—(17)—Fourteen-year-old Velma Robinson Greene, 3 feet, 10 inches tall, was quoted today by a policewoman as saying she never wants to see her 63-year-old husband, Jones Greene, again.

Greene was jailed yesterday on suspicion of robbery and violation of the deadly weapons act, after officers asserted they found a black-jack in his car. The girl was taken to juvenile hall.

Policewoman Lucille Shelton said Velma told her: "I don't want to see him again. He promised to buy me an engagement ring when we got to California. He said all older men in California have young brides."

Detectives said they were convinced the couple's marriage in Wickliffe, Ky., Nov. 5, was legal. However, the policewoman said she had wired authorities at Tallahassee, Fla., asking if they intended to institute annulment proceedings. She added that, if not, such action might be taken locally and the girl made a ward of the juvenile court.

French Premier's Followers Split Over New Program

Leon Blum Issues Warning Against Attempt At Dictatorship

Paris—(17)—A split developed today among Premier Daladier's own supporters in the chamber of deputies over the drastic new government economic program which brought a warning from former Premier Leon Blum against attempting to set up a dictatorship in France.

Despite the premier's personal appeal for a unanimous vote of approval, nine of the 112 deputies of the middle-of-the-road radical-socialist party at a meeting called by the premier voted against him, and 31 others abstained from voting.

Unanimous approval was voted, however, for France's "lack of racial prejudice" and for opposition to cession of any French colony to Germany.

The split over the "three-year plan" for rebuilding France's finances was believed to have added a new item to mounting difficulties Daladier's government faces in its new decree laws although a large majority voted confidence in the program and appealed to all French people to support it in a spirit of "freely consented discipline."

Deputies called the resolution on racial prejudice an indirect slap at Germany through comparison.

"France, a country exempt from racial prejudice," it said in part, "has considerably bettered the material, intellectual and moral situation of the people which it has taken in charge."

Lewis Elected First Head of Permanent CIO

500 Delegates at Pittsburgh Give Him 28-Minute Ovation

UNANIMOUS CHOICE

Says He Drops Role of 'Dictator' to Assume That of 'Servant'

Pittsburgh—(17)—John L. Lewis was elected first president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations today, following a 28-minute tumultuous demonstration by 500 delegates representing some 3,800,000 workers in more than 40 national unions.

The convention completed its work and adjourned at 12:35 p. m. The veteran labor leader was nominated by his long-time friend and right-hand lieutenant, Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers and chairman of the Steel Workers' organizing committee.

The end of the speech was the signal for a deafening demonstration. Horns sounded, drums beat, balloons drifted down from the balcony of the gaily-decorated hall. Bells rang. Delegates stood on chairs yelling, then joined in parades.

Recalling their association of 26 years in the labor movement, Murray said Lewis had been a constant champion of the principles of industrial democracy.

Lewis' goal, Murray said, had been the "better distribution of the profits of industry."

Unanimous Choice
Lieutenant Governor Thomas Kennedy of Pennsylvania, secretary-treasurer of Lewis' United Mine Workers, asked if there were any other nominations and delegates yelled "No."

Hugh Thompson of Buffalo, CIO regional director, then moved the nominations be closed and Lewis was elected unanimously.

Philip Murray, silver-haired vice president of the United Mine Workers, and Sidney Hillman, head of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, were elected vice presidents.

Murray's nomination by Van A. Bittner, a fellow member of the United Mine Workers, started another 14-minute demonstration, during which he was kissed by his

New Plants Move Into State, Governor-Elect Declares as He Promises to Reduce Costs

Milwaukee—(17)—Joseph M. Conway, head of the Hoberg Paper Mills, Green Bay, today was re-elected president of the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association.

All other officers also were re-elected shortly before the association closed its twenty-seventh annual convention.

New directors chosen for three-year terms are Albert P. Funk of La Crosse, and Walter Harnischfeger of Milwaukee. Bruce M. Jeffris of Janesville, was elected to fill out an unexpired term.

Milwaukee—(17)—Two new industrial plants are moving into Wisconsin and others will follow, Governor-elect Julius P. Heil informed cheering delegates to the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association last night.

Heil addressed the convention banquet with Senator-elect Alexander Wiley and B. C. Heacock, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association.

"I was in New York the other day," Heil said, "and I did a job of salesmanship. I sold two fellows and they're going to move in here. There's going to be a lot more of new plants coming in, even some of those which formerly were here and were forced out."

"I have only one main thing to ask of you. Continue to be fair to your fellow man. Don't try to keep it all for yourself. Don't you think we ought to be fair? If we have a few of you who aren't fair, let's make 'em fair. If we have a few laborers who aren't fair, let's make 'em fair."

Concerning labor, Heil asserted: "Labor has every right to organize. A worker can belong to a union just like a man can belong to the Catholics, Lutherans or a bowling club. But we won't allow any foreign interference while I am governor. Labor has the right to the highest wage it can get—it gets it honorably."

Referring to action of the state emergency board yesterday in appropriating $6,820,121 from the general fund and leaving a $3,847,726 balance, Heil said:

"I'm going to cut overhead. And now they're taking all the money before I get there. I may have to turn to page 14 col. 2

Einstein in Warning Against Attacks on Jews in United States

New York—(17)—Dr. Albert Einstein spoke out today against what he termed a "small, unscrupulous and insolent group" in Germany, and warned of anti-Semitic attempts in the United States.

The 59-year-old author of the theory of relativity, writing in Collier's magazine, asserted that anti-Semitism not only had protected privileged classes in Germany, but had "enabled a small, unscrupulous and insolent group to place the German people in a state of complete bondage."

Himself a refugee from Germany, whence he fled in 1933, Einstein cautioned of past anti-Semitic attempts in the United States. He warned, "they will repeat the attempt in times to come. So far, all such tendencies have failed because of the people's strong political instinct."

"And so it will remain in the future, if we cling to this rule: 'Beware of flatterers, especially when they come preaching hatred.'"

Reich Ambassador To U. S. Recalled Home for Report

Says Roosevelt Will Ask 9,280 Planes for Army

Assistant War Secretary Sees Threat to U. S. Air Supremacy

Boston—(17)—Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, predicted today that President Roosevelt would ask congress for an army air force of upwards of 9,280 fighting planes.

Johnson, a key figure in the president's restudy of national defense needs, gave the first official outline of parts of the administration's prospective armament program. He told a conference of New England business leaders sponsored by the New England Council that "our air supremacy is threatened" by Europe's advances.

"To meet the tremendous pace that the rest of the world is setting we must double, yes, treble and perhaps even quadruple our present air force with the best airplanes that can possibly be produced," Johnson said.

The army's present goal of 2,320 first-line planes by mid-1940 he termed "far below our immediate needs."

"Mass production of airplanes we must achieve in this country and we must do so immediately," Johnson continued.

A six-month supply of weapons and supplies for an army of a million men is another outstanding administration objective, he indicated.

Without referring to President Roosevelt's assertion that national defense involved security of the entire western hemisphere, Johnson declared that "right now we are weak in the sinews of battle to protect even our own shores."

Federal Attorney Refuses to Act on Bolens' Request

Husting Fails to Find Any Offense Committed Against U. S. Law

Milwaukee—(17)—United States Attorney B. J. Husting denied today State Senator Harry Bolens' request that he institute legal proceedings against Governor LaFollette on the ground of misuse of the mails and coercion of WPA workers in the recent election campaign.

Husting, in an opinion submitted to Bolens, who was the Democratic candidate for governor, said "in my opinion, the matters you complain of show no offense was committed against any federal law and that therefore your request must be and hereby is respectfully denied."

Bolens had contended LaFollette's procurement of the old age pension list and use of the names for writing letters to pensioners during the campaign violated the social security board's regulations.

"You state you believe that it was illegal for the governor to have obtained the list of pensioners, the use of the mails constituted a conspiracy against the United States," Husting wrote.

"You further state in your request that mail was sent to people in this district; but no proof thereof was submitted with your request."

Pension List Available
Husting then asserted no state law makes it unlawful to obtain the pension list; in fact, that a statute provides it is open to inquiry.

Janesville Man Is Seeking Release

Pardon Board Considers Plea in Criminal Libel Case

Madison—(17)—The state pardon board took under advisement today an application by John Louis Janesville, for release under a pardon from the Rock county jail where he is serving an eight months term for criminal libel.

Louis and Edward E. Branigan, Beloit political figure, were convicted on charges of publishing false statements against Rock county officials and attorneys.

Attorney William A. Nathenson, Madison, counsel for Louis, who was sentenced Sept. 26, said Louis suffered an abdominal injury while climbing into an upper bunk the second night he was in jail and is now in need of hospital care.

In a formal letter to the pardon board, Nathenson said Louis has been denied proper attention at the jail, that he was examined by two doctors but never received a report from them and that he continues to be in pain.

The board also received an affidavit from Dr. L. H. Guelnder, of Janesville stating Louis' wife is ill and in need of attention.

11 Persons Killed at Kamal Ataturk Funeral

Istanbul, Turkey—(17)—Eleven persons died, many were injured and others fainted today in a crush of persons trying to get into Dolma Bagiche palace to view the body of the late President Kamal Ataturk. Most of the casualties were among women.

The crowd was estimated at 100,000. Approximately 300,000 filed past the body yesterday.

Dieckhoff Will Confer With Hull Before Sailing

BERLIN ANGRY

Roosevelt for Time Extension for Refugees in America

Berlin—(17)—The official German news agency today announced Hans Dieckhoff, German ambassador to the United States, has been summoned home for a report to Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

The announcement said "the ambassador will inform the foreign minister in detail concerning the queer attitude toward events in Germany of a domestic nature which is apparent from declarations by Roosevelt and other authoritative personalities in the United States of America."

In a press conference Tuesday President Roosevelt said public opinion in the United States had been shocked profoundly by news from Germany of anti-Jewish violence.

(The United States ambassador to Germany, Hugh R. Wilson, already is on his way home to give a full report of the German situation at the president's request.)

The anti-Jewish drive is costing Germany orders for her goods from abroad and it appeared today other economic difficulties may follow.

One exporter said all orders had been cancelled by customers in five leading countries around Germany.

Business Declines
Another asserted ruefully that the steep downward curve of business extended beyond the bottom of his sales graph.

The sharp decrease of foreign orders, manufacturers said, was the first effect they noted after the wrecking of Jewish shops, the decrees ordering these shops under Aryan proprietorship, and the $400,000,000 fine, a consequence of the shooting by a Jewish boy of the Paris embassy secretary, Ernst vom Rath, who was buried yesterday with Nazi honors.

New prohibitions include the newspaper Angriffs said, one against tenant rights for Jews which would permit an Aryan wanting a Jew's home to have him evicted overnight. The paper said some 8,000 homes in Berlin would become available shortly for Aryans.

Jewish guests are to be banned from small hotels. The larger hotels are not adhering to the ban, a reliable person said, because of their international clientele.

With new restrictions becoming known daily while Nazi newspapers continue attacks upon the United States and Britain for their expressions of resentment, industrialists have asked that German Chambers of Commerce abroad examine market possibilities more exhaustively and try to provide counter-stimulants.

PROPOSES EXTENSION

Washington—(17)—President Roosevelt told a press conference today that on humanitarian grounds he had proposed a six-months extension for between 12,000 and 15,000 German and Austrian refugees who are in the United States on visitors' permits.

The president said unless this extension were granted the permits of this large group would be cancelled if the refugees were not back in their native land by the end of the year.

He has informed Secretary of Labor Perkins, he said, that it would be a cruel and inhuman thing to compel these persons to go back to Germany and face persecution.

Vulcan Priest Gets Second Admonition On Transfer Order

Vulcan, Mich.—(17)—The Rev. Simon Borkowski, pastor of St. Barbara's Catholic church, had before him today a second admonition to obey a transfer order or face proceedings for dismissal from the Salvatorian order.

The edict, issued yesterday by the Very Rev. Ralph M. Fontaine, superior of the order at St. Nazianz, Wis., gave Father Borkowski three days in which to act.

After consultation with pickets who have kept him "prisoner" for more than 14 weeks, Father Borkowski said it would be physically impossible for him to comply.

Father Fontaine wrote Father Borkowski he should report to Jordan college at Menominee, Mich.

If dismissed from the Salvatorian order after a trial, church officials said, Father Borkowski would face the necessity of joining another order. Expulsion from the order, however, would not mean his expulsion from the priesthood, they said.

Struggle Begun Over Control of State Finances

Zimmerman Warns Against Transfer in Payment of Civil War Debt

Madison—(P)—With a progressive governor going out in January and a Republican governor coming in the struggle over "lame-duck" control of state finances is a full swing. When the retiring emergency board composed of Governor Philip LaFollette and the two Progressive chairman of the joint legislative finance committee decided to pay off the state's 74-year-old Civil war debt at once, the Republicans hurried into action quickly. Fred R. Zimmerman, Milwaukee Republican, who will take over the secretary of state's job in January, formally notified his predecessor, Theodore Dammann, state Treasurer Solomon Levitan and members of the emergency board that payment of the Civil war debt is an illegal encroachment upon the prerogatives of the legislature. The sum involved is $1,221,906. It has been standing on the books for many years unnoticed, except through payment of interest, since the state borrowed from several funds to help equip its regiments in blue.

Refer to Budget Governor LaFollette's aids came back at Zimmerman today with a paragraph in the voluminous state budget bill of 1937 authorizing the emergency board to repay from the general fund all amounts owed to the normal and common school funds. It did not mention the Civil war debt specifically but the debt was owed to these funds. Two other actions protested by Zimmerman as illegal were the emergency board appropriations of more than $2,000,000 in "Budget B" allotments to state departments and $10,000 to the state trades practice department for a special food store investigation. Although the present emergency board has reduced by nearly $3,500,000 the treasury balance which will confront Julius P. Heil, Republican governor-elect when he takes office.

Zimmerman informed Dammann and Levitan, both of whom will retire in January, that they will be held responsible on their official bonds if they issue any vouchers or warrants effecting the emergency board transfers from the general fund.

"Budget B" Question While Civil war debt represents a sizeable sum, it is more immediate concern to Governor-elect Heil will be the "Budget B" appropriation to state departments. These are linked up inseparably with the financial policy Governor LaFollette inaugurated in 1937.

With control of the legislature, he obtained adoption of a budget passed on two main parts. One assured the departments minimum appropriations—far less than they asked. The second—known as "Budget B"—gave them the allotments they requested and provided for additional state aids to localities on condition the emergency board determined the treasury could meet the expenditures.

Budget Director James B. Borden is required by law to furnish Heil with the anticipated deficit of state financial requests not later than Monday. From the requests "that have been made so far it is apparent the departments will ask at least the top figure provided" in Governor LaFollette's conditional "Budget B."

May Make Changes The new governor will have an opportunity to size up these figures when he calls the usual budget hearings which precede the legislative session. He has pledged a reduction in expenditures and an economical administration. Sitting with him at the hearings, undoubtedly, will be fellow Republicans who will direct his financial program in the legislature.

There are complications in the fact that the governors take office in January but state fiscal years do not begin until July. Heil, therefore will be working out the last six months of LaFollette's last fiscal year. However, if he has absolute control of the legislature, Heil has power to work many changes in the LaFollette fiscal setup between January and July.

United States' Trade Agreements in Brief

By the Associated Press The United States' trade agreements with Great Britain and Canada bring the number of reciprocal pacts to 19. The new treaties will run for at least three years, beginning Jan. 1.

Great Britain granted tariff cuts or other concessions on about 450 American products; Canada gave concessions on 1,489 American products. The United States gave Britain 150 concessions and Canada 400.

In general, Britain lowered tariffs on various American farm products, and Canada on many American factory goods. The United States cut duties on British manufactured goods and Canadian raw products.

Concessions by the United States go automatically to countries having "most-favored-nation" treaties—virtually every nation except Germany.

formerly had to move from a Canadian port in order to enjoy preferential treatment, now can go out through American ports.

Experts of the agriculture department said that in general the treaties should broaden the market for American farm products, but would not solve the problem of wheat and cotton surpluses.

The United Kingdom gave the United States concessions on a variety of manufactured products, including office and electrical machinery and appliances, automobiles, chemicals and silk stockings.

In return the United States gave Great Britain substantial concessions averaging 25 per cent duty reductions on textiles, whether of cotton, flax, hemp, jute or wool. The duty on whisky, which is Britain's largest export to the United States, was "bound" at $2.50 a gallon.

Balance Concessions In some cases concessions made by or to the United States were balanced by concessions in the agreement with Canada. This was the reason for signing both agreements at the same time.

Canada made her major tariff cuts on American fruits and vegetables, fish, paper, wood, chemicals, heavy iron and steel products, machinery, aircraft and engines, and textiles. She also eliminated the 3 per cent special import tax hitherto imposed on all the items mentioned in the agreement.

United States concessions to Canada centered in live cattle, hogs and pork products, cheese, eggs, grains, other than wheat, grain by-products, maple sugar, potatoes, fish, acetic acid, brick, nickel, aluminum, zinc, cadmium, cast-iron products, paper and silver-fox furs.

Germany Excluded All the tariff concessions made by the United States in the two treaties were extended automatically to all countries enjoying "most-favored-nation treatment" here. Virtually the only country not enjoying it is Germany, owing to her discrimination against American products.

On products in which Britain and Germany tend to compete in the American market, Germany now will find it more difficult to face British competition, because she must still pay the old duties imposed by the Smoot-Hawley tariff of 1930.

After signing the trade treaty, Secretary Hull and Ambassador Lindsay of Great Britain exchanged notes guaranteeing sympathetic consideration to representations either nation might make regarding access to the other's raw materials. Officials regarded this as significant in case of wartime need of primary materials.

Proponents said the Anglo-American commercial agreement, high point of Secretary Hull's reciprocal trade program, disclosed three outstanding facts:

Changes British Trend 1. It reverses the British trend toward protectionism. Britain began to impose protective tariffs

President Roosevelt, he said, spoke "for the whole nation when he voiced amazement over developments in Germany."

Paper and Allied Products Affected by Trade Accords

Washington—(P)—Tariff concessions affecting commerce in paper and allied products with an estimated value exceeding $18,000,000 appeared in the trade agreements with Canada and Great Britain announced last night by the state department.

The Canadian agreement, superseding that of 1936, again placed American newspapers and magazines on Canada's duty-free list. In addition, it removed the Dominion's 3 per cent excise tax on American periodicals.

The department said Canada made concessions on pulp, paper and printed matter which it imported last year to a value of $14,500,000. The Dominion's imports of American newspapers and other periodicals increased from $2,800,000 in 1935 to $5,900,000 last year.

The agreement also reduced Canadian duties on labels, tags, tickets and commercial forms, photographs, engravings and maps, photographic paper and films, paper board and allied products, ruled, boxed and pad papers, and wood pulp.

Pulp on Free List In return, the United States continued newspaper and wood pulp on the free list, and reduced duties on a few specific items. These included uncoated book and printing paper, on which the rate was lowered from 3 cent a pound plus 10 per cent ad valorem to 1-5 cent a pound plus 5 per cent; and hanging paper (basic material for wallpaper) reduced from 10 to 7 1/2 per cent ad valorem.

There was a 50 per cent reduction also on tissue paper valued at not more than 15 cents a pound; and on crepe paper valued at not more than 12 cents a pound from 6 cents a pound plus 7 1/2 per cent to 3 cents a pound plus 7 1/2 per cent.

2 Milwaukee Doctors Talk at Medical Meet

A clinical pathological conference was presented by Dr. Francis D. Murphy, professor of medicine, and Dr. John G. Hill, associate professor of pathology at Marquette university at a meeting of the Outagamie County Medical society last night at the Conway hotel. About 55 doctors from Outagamie county, Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Neenah and Chilton attended the meeting which was preceded by a dinner at 6:30.

DRUNK SENTENCED

Harold Meltzer, Seymour, pleaded guilty of drunkenness and was sentenced to 30 days in the county detention camp by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court this morning. Meltzer was arrested at Seymour yesterday.

The British and Canadian agreements go into effect Jan. 1 for a three-year period and may continue in force indefinitely thereafter, subject to termination by either government on six-months' notice.

The agreement with the United Kingdom includes Northern Ireland, Newfoundland and more than 50 British colonies. American negotiators hope to complete the picture of commerce with the British Empire by opening discussions with the Dominions of Australia, New Zealand and the Union of South Africa and the Indian Empire.

J. L. Lewis Named First President Of Permanent CIO

daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mary Murray, who were Scotch kills. Lewis, in nominating Hillman, called his friend "a thinker, a philosopher and statesman. A great son of a great race."

James E. Carey, youthful head of the Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Hillman, in nominating the 27-year-old Carey, said the history of the CIO, closely paralleled that of Carey's organization, and that he believed "this is the time to give recognition to the younger men of the organization."

In responding to his election, Lewis said: "This marks my transition from the role of a dictator to the role of a servant of a constitutional democracy. What a change for a dictator! Your servant I am and proud to be."

The CIO was organized three years ago by Lewis and leaders of eight unions which bolted the American Federation of Labor. All but one of the unions, the International Ladies Garment Workers, are members of the congress.

Lewis' founding of the CIO, Murray said, resulted in the raising of wages and shortening of hours for industrial organizations, and "benefitted all the nation's workers either directly or indirectly."

Resolutions Passed

Murray estimated the gain of all workers amounted to about four billion dollars a year on the basis of contracts and wage increases won by the CIO steel workers union.

Gefore Lewis' nomination and election the delegates passed rapidly a score of resolutions.

In one headed "Protection of Democracy" it pledged support to legislation "that would be formulated by the federal administration" to prevent an "aid or comfort" being given to "aggressor nations" which are so determined to bring fascism to the world.

It also urged President Roosevelt and the government to cooperate with all other democratic nations to protect and strengthen democracy and democratic institutions.

The convention also pledged full support to Harry Bridges, CIO west coast director in his fight against deportation to his native Australia, and Harold Pritchett, of the Timber Workers' union, who has

Register of Deeds Office Has Records Dating Back to 1852

The Outagamie county register of deeds office has records showing a portion of the births, deaths, and marriages in the county for as far back as 1852. A. L. Collar, register of deeds, said in his annual report before the board of supervisors.

The office has five books of indexes to births and 65 books recording births. There are four indexes to deaths and 34 books containing death records, seven indexes to marriages and 26 volumes carrying marriage certificates. These books are open to the public, Collar pointed out.

"To take care of the indexing of such a vast number of filed instruments, a unique system of alpha-

Weight Lifting Class Will be Offered at 'Y'

The athletic committee of the Y. M. C. A. last night voted to add a class in weight lifting, the first ever offered, to the physical education program at the "Y."

Ray Risch, physical education director, said today that Earl Capitan has been named instructor of the class which will meet on Wednesday and Friday evenings in conjunction with classes in boxing and wrestling.

The committee last night authorized the purchase of robes for boxers in the Y. M. C. A. class who have been appearing in amateur fights in this vicinity.

Automobile Damaged In Traffic Collision

Cars driven by Harry Van Laarhoven, 930 S. Lawe street, and Andrew Jansen, 733 W. Spring street, were involved in a minor traffic collision at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Van Laarhoven was going east on Calumet street and Jansen north on Oneida street when the collision occurred, according to police. The Van Laarhoven machine was damaged.

ATTEND PARTY

Members of the salesmanship class and commercial department at Appleton Vocational school attended a party last night at the home of W. J. Elder, sales instructor. About 20 people were present.

Thanks Two Men

Lewis personally said he wanted to thank the west coast labor for waging such a "constructive fight" under leadership of the two men.

"I take this opportunity to express my personal confidence and that of the CIO in the leadership of Harry Bridges and Harold Pritchett," Lewis said.

In other resolutions the 500 delegates:

Urged congress to increase the United States housing authority's capital from 800 million to 5 billion dollars.

Instructed the executive board to thoroughly study technological unemployment and work for legislation for a 6-hour day; 30-hour work-week.

Charged the American Newspaper Guild had been "subjected to a studied and ruthless attack by the huge financial interests which the Hearst newspapers represent" and urged CIO members to "give all possible aid and support to guild aims and activities" in organizing Hearst employees.

Shawano County Prosecutor To Stay on Full-Time Basis

By the Associated Press

The budget committee of the Jefferson county board of supervisors didn't ask for a contingency fund in the 1939 budget yesterday, because the county now owns $100,000 worth of government bonds and had about $110,000 on hand Nov. 1. The budget was $13,004.39 under a year ago.

Rock county's board adopted a budget calling for a general tax levy of $854,561, an increase of $110,000.

The Brown county board certified a resolution that all taverns be closed between 1 and 8 o'clock a. m.

The Waukesha county board recessed until Nov. 28 to allow farmers members to plow their fields.

By a vote of 25 to 10, the Shawano county board decided to continue the office of district attorney on a full-time basis. Earlier the district attorney and sheriff were called in and reminded of a resolution adopted in 1930 which called for enforcement of the law against slot machines.

The Chippewa county highway committee reported a budget of $207,000 for county trunk highways for the coming year. This is an increase of $62,900 over the 1938 budget. The chief cause of the increase was damage done by 1938 floods. The board adopted the budget. The board also appropriated $1,500 to hire a county health nurse for 1939.

In Racine county, the board voted not to grant salary increases next year to county employees.

W. J. Rogan, Marathon county agent, warned of a probable grasshopper plague next year and urged the farmers to cooperate in locating and destroying the larvae. He recommended the use of poison in the destruction campaign.

The Langlade and Portage county boards, after transacting preliminary business, adjourned until the deer season closes.

The Marathon board also adjourned for the deer season, but only after preparing a budget of $750,918, an increase of $12,000 over that for 1938. The board was due largely to additional appropriations for the highway department. The tax rate was lowered to $7.89, compared with $8.22 for this year.

Navy Bomber Crashes; Two Fliers are Killed

Honolulu—(P)—Two navy fliers were killed and five others injured last night when one of the VP-10 squadron bombers which pioneered the navy mass flights across the Pacific crashed into a boathouse at the Pearl Harbor fleet air base during an attempted landing.

Instantly killed were lieutenant junior grade, P.H. Ashworth, 30, Wenham, Mass., and aviation cadet, J. W. Beam of Bardstow, Ky.

WPA Worker Gives Life For 10-Year-Old Son

Indianapolis—(P)—Robert Brannan, 38, Works Progress Administration worker, gave his life last night for that of his 10-year old son, Robert, Jr.

An electric interurban caught them on a 160-foot long trestle over Eagle creek as they crossed to hunt. Brannan seized the boy, raced ahead and, just before the car struck, held his son over the edge.

The father was killed on a stone abutment 40 feet below. The boy fell, too, but was only bruised.

The ordinary Turkeys have a large muscular structure and an excessive boney frame. The pen fed varieties are confined to their pen, fed the PROPER RATIONS and DEVELOP a MEATY BODY with the minimum of waste. The meat is more tasty and the skin is light and fine. We have one of our own experienced men right on the scene when these Turkeys are killed to see that they are thoroughly dressed and drawn, READY FOR THE PAN. No excess waste. There is no goul left on the liver, thus the liver can be used for part of the delicious dressing. In addition we will carry a fine selection of choice, light, and medium weight DUCKS, GEESE, CHICKENS AND CAPONS all at reasonable prices. These fowl are purchased from real poultry raisers, and we can truthfully say that this is the finest selection we have ever offered for any Thanksgiving. Student Club Is Sponsoring Bird Feeding Contest

Normal School Group Launches Program for Rural Pupils

Kaukauna—The bird feeding contest for all Outagamie county schools began this week as its sponsors, the Conservation club of Outagamie Rural Normal school, sent out final letters of instructions. The contest will continue until April 1 at which time prizes will be awarded to the schools keeping the best set of records. First prize is a book on birds, with large bird pictures for other awards.

Each school will build its own feeding place. Suggestions supplied by the Conservation club include hanging pieces of suet on tree branches, using a shallow cigar box, making a window box, making a weathercock food house, which revolves so that the open side is away from the wind, and building an Audubon feed house.

This latter device consists of two food trays, one above the other, with the upper and larger protected from the snow and rain by a 4-sided hopper roof and from the wind by an apron of glass which falls from the roof. The whole house is supported by a single pole running to the peak, and should be built among or near shrubs or beneath the low growing branches of a tree.

Students are warned to keep trays swept clean and free from snow. If large amounts of feed are needed, E. R. Karmen, Appleton conservation warden, may help out, the contestants were told.

Girl Scouts to Hold Thanksgiving Party

Kaukauna—The Red Wing patrol of Kaukauna girl scouts is planning a Thanksgiving party to be given at next Wednesday's meeting. Patrol members are Marion Kline, Peggy Lummerding, Joyce Wolf, Anna Mae Smith, Mary Parman, Lois Berg, Louise Berg and Marcella Vandenberg.

Tests were passed at this week's meeting with Betty Schell passing service to community; Anna Mae Smith, sewing; Audrey Specht, pet story; Agnes Rohan, five points of health; and Rosalie Van DeLoe, flag. The Helpful Hands patrol sponsored a candy sale.

Berkers Wins Award At Florists' Meeting

Kaukauna—A first place award in floral arrangement was won by John Berkers of the Kaukauna Floral company at the fall convention of Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Florists association in Milwaukee this week. Berkers' entry was two large table centerpieces worked out in a Japanese pattern. Mr. and Mrs. Berkers and Adrian Berkers, Sr., attended the convention.

St. Mary Scouts Will Meet at Tourist Park

Kaukauna—St. Mary's boy scouts will meet at 6:45 tonight at the scout cabin in Tourist park. The meeting was postponed from Wednesday night. Tests will be passed.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Quill, Scroll Will Sponsor Creative Writing Contest

Kaukauna—The first of a series of contests sponsored by Quill and Scroll, international high school journalistic society, of which there is a chapter at the high school, has been announced. Members of the Kau-Hi-News and Broadcaster staffs may enter the competition, with writers of the 10 best papers receiving a bronze creative writing award, and being made eligible for the president's scholarship award, made annually to some outstanding Quill and Scroll member and consisting of a credit of $500 toward entering any journalism school in the country. The first contest will be for editorial writers; the second for feature story writers.

Crew Transferred To Sewer Project

43 Men From Sidewalk Job Go to Work on Florence Street

Kaukauna—The WPA crew which completed work on the Monument square sidewalk and curbing project, numbering 43, has been transferred to the Strassburg sewer project, according to Jule Mertes, North road chairman. It is planned to have about 80 men work there, with more to be transferred when the south side curb and sidewalk crew finishes. Besides the sewer project, two other WPA crews then will be at work in Kaukauna, one engaged in cleaning out Kappell's creek and the other on the manhole and catch basin project.

It was originally planned to have about 60 men on the Strassburg job, putting the others to work on the utility's power development project. This project has not yet received Washington's approval. The north side crew moved its equipment and shanty to Strassburg yesterday and began sewer work where Lave street and the old Plank road meet, working up Florence street. The iron pipe for the force main in Strassburg has arrived and the project will now proceed on schedule.

Oshkosh Bank Is High on $45,000 Village Hall Issue

General Contract at Little Chute to be Let Nov. 28

Little Chute — The village hall bonds, amounting to $45,000, were sold to the highest bidder, the Oshkosh National bank at a meeting of the members of the village board Tuesday evening. The interest rate will be 2 1/2 per cent plus a premium of $679.30. The second highest bid was offered by the Appleton State bank of Appleton. Construction of the new village hall will begin Dec. 1. The general contract will be let Nov. 28. The village clerk will receive applications for the position of secretary and treasurer of the water department up to 8 o'clock Nov. 28 and also for the position of building inspector during construction of the new village hall. The rate of pay for the inspector will be $7 a day for actual days worked, a day to consist of 8 hours. The dates for the work will be set by the village board. The building inspector applications are also to be in by Nov. 28 at 8 o'clock. A test of the water at St. John school, Hietpas addition and Jefferson street, was taken recently by Village Marshal Frank Hermen and submitted to the state laboratory of hygiene of Green Bay. A reply stated that the water is in the best of condition.

About fifty-five members were present at the social meeting of the members of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters at the Forester hall Wednesday evening. Cards and bingo were played and a program was presented under the direction of Harold D. Jansen, WPA recreational supervisor at Little Chute. Mr. Jansen gave a talk on the value of recreational activities in the community.

The band under the direction of Mr. Jansen presented the following numbers: "We're Never Too Tired to Say Hello," "When I Was a Lady," "Oh, Where, Oh Where Is My Little Dog Gone." Vocal selections with Joyce Jansen and Shirley playing their own accompaniment included: "America," band; Christmas Spirit, "Silent Night," band; "Chinatown," harmonica selection, Joseph Hammen accompanied on the ukelele by Harold Jansen; "Oh, Susanna," song, Ruth Jansen, Nellie Hermen,

Clapper Finding Indulgent Attitude Toward Roosevelt

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Des Moines, Iowa—While every sounding I am able to make indicates deep and determined opposition to a third term for Roosevelt, at the same time there exists a surprisingly indulgent attitude toward him.

When things went wrong under Hoover, resentment was taken out on him directly. Roosevelt seems to be escaping that to a surprising degree. Generally the election is regarded as a protest against political use of WPA, actual or suspected; against labor troubles and the failure of the administration to be more stern in connection with the sit-down strikes; against low farm prices, and against unemployment. Yet the attitude toward Roosevelt, in spite of all this, is unexpectedly restrained and even sympathetic.

Purpose I have sought the views of business men of the hate Roosevelt crowd. But the election, instead of aggravating that feeling, appears to have left it considerably tempered.

There is relief that the Republicans made such strong gains. The Democratic party's political monopoly has been broken and nearly every one regards that as a healthy change. Yet Republicans, instead of being made cocky by their victory, appear to have been sobered by it. One head of a large industry in Raymond Clapper, Minneapolis, who has had his share of labor troubles, himself volunteered the interpretation that the election was a criticism of the way Roosevelt has done some things, but not of his purposes, nor many of his achievements.

Progressives, both of the LaFollette group and of the Minnesota Farmer-Labor party, believe the Republicans will swing toward a reactionary position in spite of the progressive attitude of candidates like young Harold Stassen, Republican governor-elect of Minnesota. These third party Progressives say that the industrial and financial interests behind the Republican party will dominate and that Republican progressives will be forced to give in to them.

Republican Party Is Now On Probation

On the other hand middle-class business men, in several instances, have told me that any such development would be fatal to the Republicans and would result in their being thrown out of office at the next election. As they see it, the Republican party is on probation. It came in accidentally as the result of a protest against various conditions long as men are out of work there must be relief. But they want it more clearly removed from politics.

Surprisingly Little Asked Of Roosevelt

Hopkins is widely criticized, and the influence of the left wingers in the New Deal is under suspicion. On the whole, however, surprisingly little is asked of Roosevelt. A little more toward the middle of the road, more tact, more encouragement to the morale of business men, would, I am convinced, work wonders in the restoration of Roosevelt's prestige. It has been so little demanded fundamentally that he can easily recover it, and go out of office two years hence almost universally acclaimed as one of our greatest presidents. You hear scarcely a word of criticism against wages and hours legislation. People have quit picking at every little thing. The carping mood seems to have largely disappeared. The temper of the country, in this section, seems more normal, more balanced and healthier than it has been in years.

At last it seems possible that our conservatives are learning what the English conservatives learned, namely that changes are inevitable and that the clock cannot be turned back. The bulk of the Roosevelt reforms have been accepted and have passed out of the field of argument. Even unconstructed reactionaries are not planning head-on assaults, realizing that course would be futile. Their method will be to move cautiously and indirectly to sap reforms by putting in personnel which will by changes in rulings and interpretation, quietly pull the teeth under local anesthesia.

Those are the tactics which the Progressives in this part of the country are expecting and against which they will be on guard.

Authorize Officers to Draw Sewage Contract

The board of public works yesterday instructed the city engineer and the city attorney to draw a contract between the city and the Bucholtz Sanitary district in the town of Harrison to dispose of district sewage.

The engineer, after a survey of sewers in the Fourth ward, has reported that they are adequate to take care of the increased flow they will have to handle when connections are made. The sewage from the district will be treated at the Appleton Disposal plant.

Taxpayers Ask City to Install Water Mains

A petition asking the city to install water mains on W. Summer street from Linwood avenue to Badger avenue has been filed in city hall, according to Carl J. Becher, city clerk. The request will be considered by the fire and water committee.

THOSE AUTO FINANCING CASES AGAIN

The Ford and Chrysler companies have signed what is called a "Consent Decree" in the much publicized automobile financing cases. That is they have agreed that a judgment be entered in the courts prohibiting them from continuing in the future practices which they followed in the past.

But General Motors will not sign any such consent. It is going to fight to the last ditch.

These cases will probably be recognized as those which occasioned the great blow-up against Judge Geiger at Milwaukee in which juvenile members of the federal department of justice who had undertaken the task of "making the country over" were going to impeach Judge Geiger for denouncing their method of using threats of criminal prosecution and the return of an indictment before a grand jury to obtain Consent Decrees by companies that didn't want to consent and claimed the law had been faithfully followed by them.

The people who read these items cannot be blamed for exclaiming, "What's this thing all about?" If they could answer that question they would do Ford, Chrysler and General Motors a great favor. These companies have hired as astute lawyers as the country produces and they cannot agree what the thing is all about.

The hitch is in the law, in the obscurity of the language employed. It may be beautiful language, fine political rhetoric for the stump, but it is a hard nut to crack when anyone comes to try to make a sensible meaning out of it.

The ordinary man in the street, of which America is made, justly wonders why a law cannot be written in plain fashion. Its obvious purpose is to forbid something which is considered wrong or to require something which is considered right. That is at least the logic of law-making.

But laws must be drawn in general language. And a good law writer is not only a blessing to his country but merits a monument.

The law officers of the government in charge of these cases must be themselves uncertain as to whether the practices they seek to terminate are condemned by the law, else we would not have so much hesitation, sidestepping and beating around the bush. The cases should remind the people, however, that there is always in government an attempt to extend power against the individual and that this attempt should not exist excepting as the legislative department definitely enacts laws to that purpose. It is a very safe guess in these automobile financing cases that the Department of Justice, just to suit its idea of some economic philosophy, is stretching the fabric of the law and taking advantage of its ambiguous and uncertain language. If that be called only a guess it is at least as good a guess as any that has projected itself out of these cases.

But the Attorney General who selected Judge Geiger originally to preside over these cases because the judge was known as "hard on the big fellows" has run into another tartar on the bench. The second selected judge has refused to enter the consent decree against the Ford and Chrysler companies unless the General Motors is found to be wrong after trial. Meanwhile the criminal cases that were used as a club at Milwaukee have been disgustingly tossed aside as not only a dirty procedure but rather criminal themselves.

So the Attorney General who called Judge Geiger's conduct to the attention of congress with the suggestion that some action was necessary has been forced by circumstances to pull his young bloodhounds off the trail and accept the proposition that threats by an attorney general are blackmail and that criminal proceedings are not indicated unless the one charged with crime can find out by reading the law what he was prohibited from doing.

Despite the Attorney General's department we have not yet stooped to the Berlin method of writing laws condemning everyone as a criminal who "performs any act hurtful to the state" nor are we permitting gay young gossings who are in a great hurry with that work of making America over to tell us when an act is hurtful to the state.

HARRY DAUGHERTY AND GOVERNOR EARLE

There is a fatal and sickening parallel between the revelations brought to the surface concerning the Earle regime in Pennsylvania and the facts unearthed about the "Ohio gang," as led by Harry Daugherty when the hapless Harding was President.

Each outfit has been both crafty and brazen.

Arthur E. Colgrove, for three years secretary of the Luscious Department of Property and Supplies in the Earle cabinet, testified from the stand the other day that he had kept a detailed account during his office of the very troublesome matters that had culminated in scandals but when asked for the valuable mass of details he answered:

"I cut it up with vegetable shears and threw it in the incinerator."

This, of course, is cold-blooded calculation. The record he had kept was his own. He had a right to cut it up and burn it. He violated no law in pursuing that course. He did, however, raise something more than suspicion by his act. The public will properly conclude that he deliberately sought to protect his master by removing a much needed source of information.

When Harry Daugherty had his back to the wall, when sleuths were following large sums of cash that had disappeared from the bank accounts of those who had received remarkable special privileges, they came to the bank over which Mr. Daugherty's brother ruled as president. They sought secret accounts and dummy hiding places as well as the pages which told the story of Mr. Daugherty's own transactions.

In this situation, and no doubt with guilty figures directly in front of them, Mr. Daugherty's brother coolly extracted from the books every page that might do harm and burned this evidence in the furnace.

Just as crafty as the Earle machine and just as brazen.

The point with the Daughertys was to avoid prison for reputation had already been destroyed. The point in Pennsylvania is to avoid that same penitentiary for the people have thrown the corrupt organization out.

As with Mr. Colgrove so with Daugherty's brother. Who could complain if he burned some records? There was no crime in that. The records had not even been subpoenaed. No one seemed to imagine the evidence would be removed.

Certainly the people concluded the destroyed evidence would have proven guilt but that suspicion couldn't send Harry Daugherty to jail.

For pure brass, for unalloyed contempt of public opinion and the abandonment of all claim to decency these two episodes are running a neck and neck race.

STEADY INCOME FOR MOTORS WORKERS

General Motors, whose peak employment is over 250,000 men, made a highly interesting announcement by the submission of its plan to create security for its workers insofar as that desirable result seems possible in an employment that in the past has had radical ups and downs.

General Motors issues to all workers who have been with it more than five years a guarantee of 60 per cent of their regular weekly wages and a similar guarantee of 40 per cent to those employed over two but less than five years, in each instance the guarantee to be good for a full year.

Here is genuine and specific security. Here, therefore, are fear and uncertainty driven beyond the river.

And here, also, will be a quarter million families put in a position where they can create their own plans, fix their own budgets and accept their own responsibilities with a degree of certainty they never knew before.

To make the plan effective in a perfectly practical way General Motors will advance the amount of the guarantee in case business falls off, an advance that cannot be repaid in money but is repayable only in labor, and is cancelled if the worker dies.

But how, one may ask, can such a plan hope for success against the uncertain storms of the future? Obviously the company must set aside from its profits great reserves in the form of bank accounts and fluid investments to meet the heavy shocks of distressful conditions.

And now, and here, it is equally obvious that no such reserves could ever be set aside were it not that the last congress repealed the surplus profits tax.

Moreover, in assuming this heavy burden General Motors, as nearly as hard-headed business men can, must plan its work program in order to keep its selling agencies abreast of its production capacity.

This challenge to its own fertility of mind, to its business management and capacity for leadership, is bound to produce from it as great an advance in actual steadiness of employment as the humanity of its purpose advances the cause of good relations.

Nearly two thirds of all the lamb eaten in the United States is consumed north of Washington and east of Pittsburgh, an area which grows less than five per cent of the country's sheep.

Dr. H. M. Jennison, University of Tennessee botanist, says the Great Smoky Mountains National Park has nearly twice as many different kinds of trees as are found in all Europe.

Latin America increased its purchases of United States medicinal 30 per cent in the last year and accounted for 20 per cent of the total shipped from this country.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York—Bend your ear closer and let me whisper to you about a certain New York columnist I know and how old Noah Webster played him a scurvy trick.

This columnist was wrestling with his typewriter the other day, hoping that if he hit enough keys willy-nilly, it would turn out a column. What I mean is, the poor fellow did not have the slightest idea what to write about. It happens to everybody. Even Einstein hasn't had a big idea since relativity.

So the columnist ran his fingers through his hair and muttered under his breath and smoked more cigarettes than were good for him. Suddenly his eyes lighted with inspiration. He whirled to his secretary.

"Go," he said, "to the dictionary. Open it at random. Close your eyes and put your finger on a word. Open your eyes and tell me what the word is you have put your finger on, and then I shall write a column about it."

"But," quibbled the secretary, "Suppose you don't know what the word means?"

"Such talk is heresy," the columnist shouted. "I even know words that aren't in the old book."

"I've heard them," the secretary retorted, "and you ought to be ashamed of yourself."

She went to the dictionary, opened it, closed her eyes and picked a word.

"What's the word?" the columnist inquired, bursting with confidence.

"The word," replied the secretary, triumphantly, "is 'Tergiversation'." (See Note).

I assume it will be unnecessary for me to add the columnist blushed, coughed loudly, blew his nose, and then decided that wasn't such a good idea for a column, after all.

(Note: Tergiversation—desertion of a cause, party, religion.)

Music By The Duke:

They tell me that if Duke Ellington's orchestra attempted to play at a single sitting all the music the 39-year-old Duke has composed, it would take three and one-half days. They tell me, too, that Ellington's music is about the only modern composing which Sigmund Spaeth, the tune detective, has been unable to trace back to the classics.

Ellington is a musical paradox. He leads a band which is considered "hot," but the music he writes is neither swing nor jazz, viz.: "Mood Indigo," "Black and Tan Fantasy," "Sophisticated Lady," and "In a Sentimental Mood." Looked upon generally as a dance band leader, he is actually one of the most earnest students of his race in seeking to create and present negro music that is authentic.

Benny Goodman, whose name is synonymous with swing, is another dance bandmaster whose musical heart lies far away from such rhythmic nonsense. His greatest delight is in his virtuosity on the clarinet; and he is never happier than when playing with the classics. His appearances with famous string quartets are well remembered; and barely three weeks ago he took part in a concert with the Budapest string quartet at solemn Town Hall, again playing the classics.

Business Is Good:

As long ago as October the big stores and shops down on 34th Street, along Fifth Avenue and on the midtown cross streets began to thrum with renewed trade. Merchandisers of women's wear, always among the first to feel a trade upsurge, are particularly happy over the pickup in demand.

It is said, with what truth I do not know, that women's wear is not only the first merchandise to be affected by revived buying but also the last to be affected by Depression. The explanation is that men—who earn the money—will deny themselves new attire so that their women folk may not be deprived of same. This is a very pretty theory from a man's standpoint, but it doesn't sound like a lot of fellows I know.

The theatre, an excellent reflection of business conditions because its patronage comes as much from out of town as from within, has been doing excellent business. The hotels are prospering and the cafes, which in midtown are thicker than a fiddler's hair, make one wonder if people do anything nowadays besides eat.

As for me, business is just so-so. Not much cash business, but some trading now and then. Yesterday I swapped a mandolin (without strings) for a birdcage. The cage wasn't much good, but neither was the mandolin. No profit either way, but it was a pleasant way to spend the day—bartering.

Looking Backward

25 YEARS AGO
Friday, Nov. 21, 1913

Retail prices of food were higher on Aug. 15 of that year than they had been at any other time during the previous 23 years, according to figures of the bureau of labor statistics.

The former Fox River telephone office was to be the police station. The lease submitted by the city had been returned by the Green Bay and Mississippi Canal company that morning and the city accepted it. The city was to take possession Dec. 1 and the department was to move into the Midway building as soon as cells were installed.

The county board that morning elected Frank J. Harwood, Appleton; Dr. C. D. Boyd, Kaukauna, and J. C. Jackson, of the Shiocton-Seymour Telephone Company, trustees of the new county tuberculosis sanatorium.

The spring-like weather of the previous few days caused lilac trees to begin budding.

10 YEARS AGO
Friday, Nov. 16, 1928

A 6,000,000 share day loomed on the New York Stock exchange Friday when a tremendous flood of buying orders poured onto the floor, lifting two score issues to record high levels on gains that ran as high as $21 a share. The ticker had fallen more than an hour behind the market at 1 o'clock that afternoon.

Extension of air mail service from Milwaukee into the Fox river valley was approved that day by Acting Postmaster General Glover.

Unexpected opposition to Supervisor T. H. Ryan's resolution for $50,000 to be added to the trust fund for an addition to the courthouse developed at the Friday morning's session of the county board and the resolution was laid over for a few days until the finance committee had prepared a budget for the coming year.

Grace Gruenwald received first prize in the theme writing contest sponsored by the Neenah High School Club. Viola Hellermann was second and Jeanette Luebben third.

A Verse for Today
by Anne Campbell

FOR MAY

She has small time to grieve because her day Holds no long moments for herself. . . . It ends As it begins, with loving thoughts of friends And kindly deeds performed along the way.

That her own life is lonely, that she asks The music of one voice forever stilled, She does not recollect in a day filled With cheerful duty and heart-healing tasks.

And we who struggle daily toward our goal, Walk with a surer step because of her, And feel our resolution wake and stir, Inspired and strengthened by her valiant soul.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — Election returns indicate that the country can take a turn to Roosevelt liberalism or modified Republican conservatism by a shift of five or ten per cent of the vote.

Statistics have computed before this that a five per cent switch of votes to the Republican side in 1936 in certain key states would have reduced Roosevelt's overwhelming electoral vote very sharply while a switch of ten per cent in other key sections would have defeated him.

Now the switch of five or ten per cent of the vote in certain of those fairly well-balanced sectors has given the Republicans a resounding gain in the house and an emphatic and more important gain among the governorships. (Where party success is concerned, governorships are far more important than house or senate places.)

A New Deal Blow-Out

In the house, both Democrats and Republicans alike who had held their places since pre-New Deal days—before 1932—survived the present election with scarcely an exception. The Democrats elected in the tide of 1932, 1934 and 1936 were the ones blown out of office in 1938.

All of which means that in spite of temporary losses the two parties are pretty well bed-rocked, each in its own balliwick. Wise politicians such as Postmaster General James A. Farley and Charles Michaelson, admiral of Democratic party publicity, said before the election that the major political battles would continue to be fought between Republicans and Democrats "at least through my time, and yours."

New Hopes for 1940

Also, the Republican gains put a new value on the G.O.P. presidential nomination for 1940. Anybody who attended the 1935 Republican national convention could tell that the party considered its presidential nomination wasn't worth a dime then, except for a paragraph of history. But it will be a choicer piece of real estate next time.

And here's something else. And that brings up another thing. From all appearances, President Roosevelt believes, and his friends and many critics alike agree, that his personal popularity still continues at a high level. Moreover, he remains determined to push his program, which is not entirely complete and still subject to revision or repeal by its force.

Now comes a resurgence of Republicans and an increased proportion of independent Democrats remaining in congress because of the defeat of New Dealers, both hazards to his program. What may happen? There are many here ready to guess that if he saw likelihood of election of a Republican president in 1940, or—of nomination of an anti-New Deal Democrat in 1940, or—of election of an anti-New Deal congress in 1940—He would give his personal popularity the test and run for a third term.

CORRECTING PAST BLUNDERS

Editor Post-Crescent—A few days ago you made a statement to the effect that it always fell to the Republicans to clear up the legislative blunders of the Democrats. This may or may not be true, depending upon one's point of view.

Your editorial failed to mention that during the 20's conditions arose which were allowed to continue until the people demanded a change. The Roosevelt administration attempted to meet these conditions by the means of legislation. Much legislation was passed in a time of emergency when people were demanding action, and consequently was not subject to much discussion. It seems unjust to condemn the administration because of its policy of experimentation. Practically all that we know and believe is due to the experiments of someone. Using the same line of reasoning we could say that it fell to Marconi to right the blunders of Morse and Bell; or we could say that it fell to the present airplane manufacturers to rectify the blunders of the Wright Brothers. In their times these men were subjected to ridicule and criticism, but at least they had an idea and were not afraid to experiment. If the present administration has done nothing else, it has at least pointed the way and has made a start in the right direction.

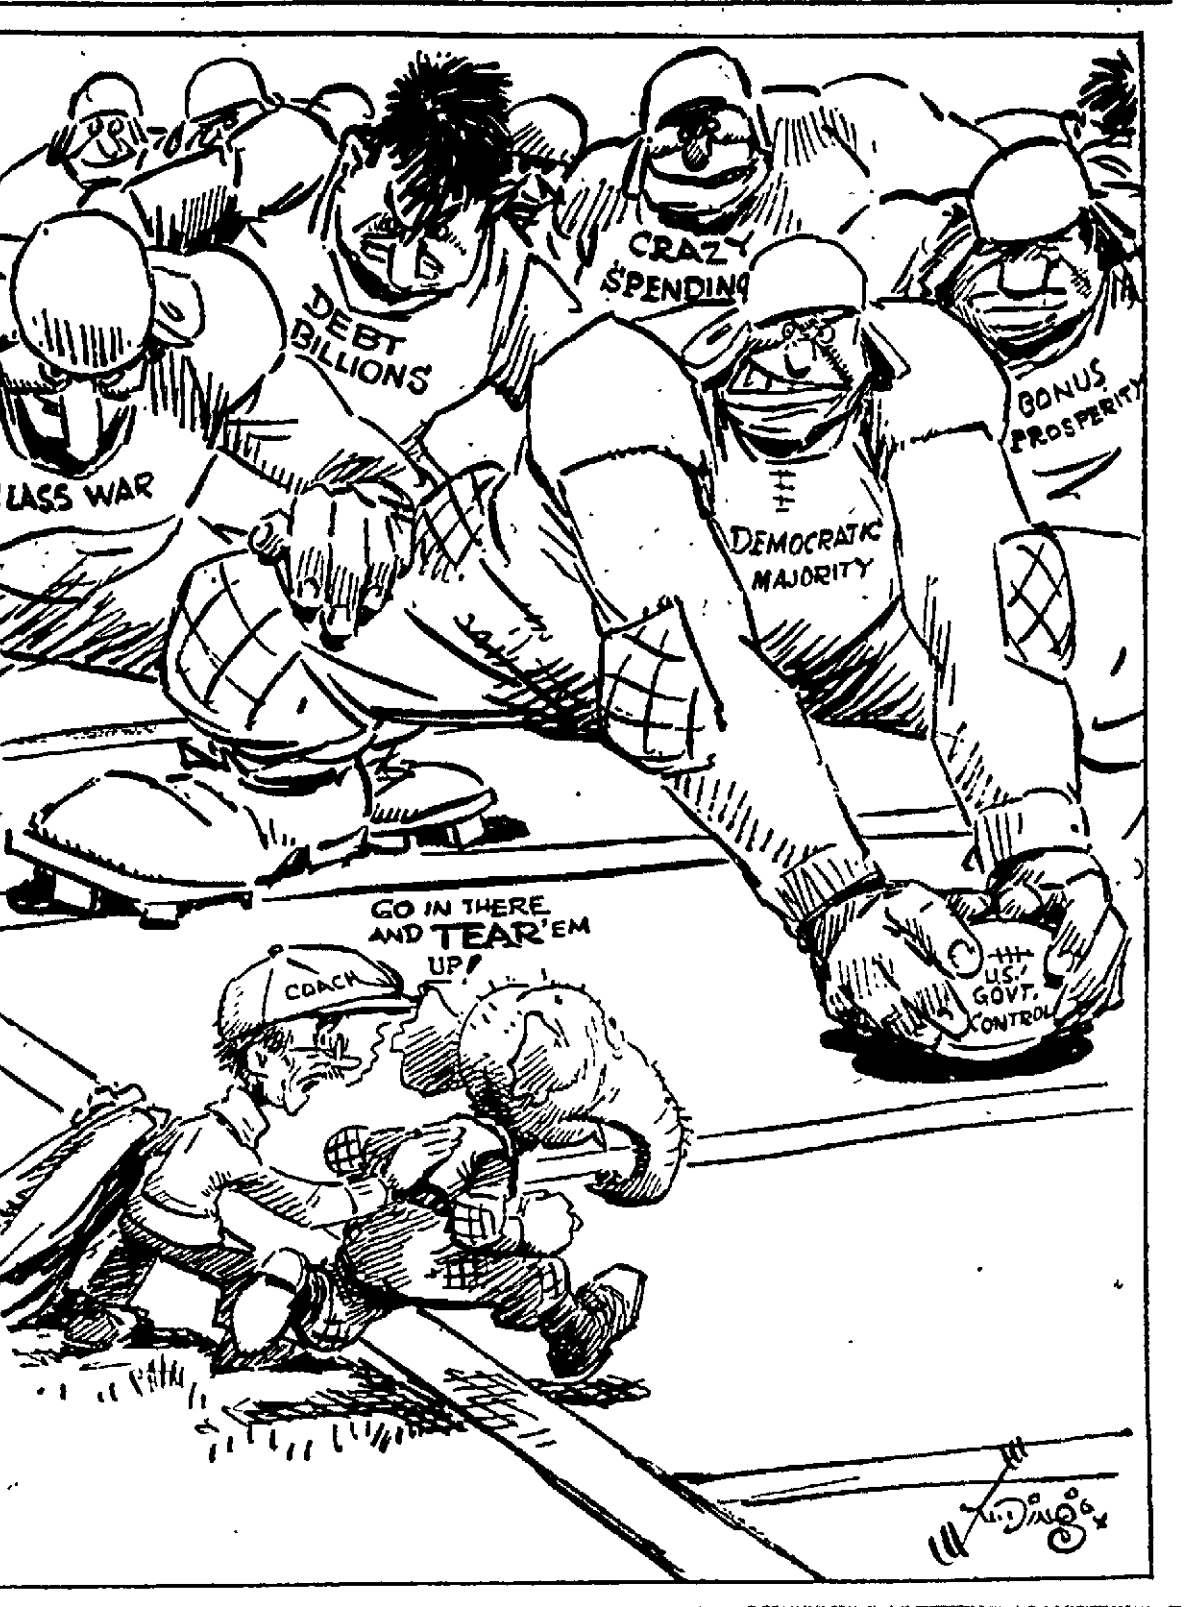

History has proven the failure of the "do nothing policy." It seems reasonable to believe that a man-made depression needs a man-made cure. The question of who is to do the curing always arises. Mussolini came to power because an elected government lacked the leadership necessary to meet post-war conditions.

With the experience of Italy before us it seems better to have representatives at least make an attempt to meet conditions, rather than allow them to become such that we allow some unscrupulous demagog to make a cure-all upon us.

Why not make an attempt at giving all sides of a question and leave to Chicago's self-styled "Greatest Newspaper" the policy of wishful thinking and biased editorial writing?

A TOUGH SPOT FOR THE SUBSTITUTE QUARTERBACK

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

KEEP HAIR IN

At this writing one factor of the vitamin B complex is tentatively named "anti-gray hair factor"—at least as regards the influence upon animals. Incidentally it is a good idea to use vitamin B complex, containing all of the entitics or factors, whenever vitamin B is used at all, for maintaining good nutrition or for overcoming deficiencies of health or nutrition due to insufficient intake of vitamins, as the complex is supplied in vitamin B tablets (each containing 150 international units of B) or vitamin B complex syrup, each teaspoonful containing 250 units of B.

If the nails and perhaps the skin present evidences of faulty nutrition, it is well to take not only vitamin B complex (B-1, B2 or G and all the dozen or more other factors) but also sunshine vitamin D, as these are found in irradiated yeast tablets, each tablet containing the vitamin B complex of non-fermentable or non-fermenting yeast and 500 units of sunshine vitamin D.

Dandruff and Falling Hair is evidence of nutritional deficiency, in my opinion. The supplementary feeding described is indicated in most cases, but special local treatment of the scalp is desirable, too. In the experience of thousands of my readers, and in my own experience in practice, the best remedy for dandruff and falling hair is this salve:

Precipitated sulphur, one dram (teaspoonful); Salicylic acid, 20 grains (one scruple) (1-3 teaspoonful); Ointment of Rose Water, ONE OUNCE.

Properly made, this salve is so smooth that no particle can be felt when it is rubbed between the finger and thumb.

Every evening go over a different quarter of the scalp, parting the hair here and there and carefully rubbing a little of the salve into the scalp (not the hair) with the tips of the fingers. Once a week instead of an application of the salve take a shampoo. Continue this for a regular six-weeks course. Such a course twice or in some cases three times in the year will control dandruff and falling hair. It is tedious but it is efficient.

If you are too indifferent to go to so much trouble to correct the trouble, try daily application to the scalp of a solution of ten grains of resorcin and ten grains of salicylic acid in plain alcohol or your favorite toilet water. This may be sprayed forcibly up on the scalp from an atomizer tip almost touching the scalp. Sometimes resorcin stains white, gray or blonde hair reddish or yellowish, but the stain disappears after the resorcin is discontinued. The solution may leave the scalp too dry. If so, apply a few drops of the Skin Oil daily, as already described.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Inhaling

When you inhale cigarette smoke do you take it into your stomach or lungs or both? (Miss I. M. C.)

Answer—I never inhale it, except second hand. Smoke inhaled enters the windpipe, bronchial tubes, air-cells of lungs. Only way smoke could get into stomach is by swallowing, and very little could be swallowed in any circumstances. Objection in inhaling tobacco smoke is that it exposes a larger area of mucous membrane to the fumes, and hence increases the amount of carbon monoxide or other harmful constituents absorbed. If you want to break the tobacco habit, send stamped envelope bearing your address, and ask for monograph on "Tobacco Habit."

Your Birthday

"SCORPIO"

If November 19 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m.; and from 8:30 to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m.; from 6:30 to 8:30 p. m.; and from 10:30 p. m. until midnight.

No not become so absorbed in doing anything this day, that you will be oblivious to what is going on around you. Through the disregard of comments serious mistakes may be made. This is a day that will require you to keep your eyes and ears open to prevent personal interests from suffering as a result of other people's forgetfulness or negligence. Selfishness may make some people decidedly inconsiderate; it is a trait the average person must suppress in order to keep out of hot water. Inconsistency, unless guarded against, is apt to be responsible for many of this day's complicated situations, especially in making and breaking engagements. Extravagance may prompt many persons to spend money foolishly, so take precautions to curb inclinations that might lead you into doing things in a lavish manner. Married and engaged couples and those discussing the possibilities of becoming life partners, must consider each other's likes and dislikes. If friction is to be avoided, if a woman and November 19 is your birthday, your personality is likely to be one of your greatest assets. Your intuition is keen; your judgment should be good, and your ability to make money may be uncanny. You ought to have many social graces and enjoy an unusual degree of popularity. Your versatility might enable you to do many artistic things exceptionally well. You should avoid arguments, for they are liable to be the underlying cause of many of your troubles. As an author, newspaper reporter, interior decorator, actress, broker or business executive your chances for making a success appear to be unlimited. Marriage ought to help rather than hinder your ambitions and, in all likelihood, will provide you with many luxuries and comforts.

The child born on November 19 seldom fails to remember the things it is expected to do and not to do. Politeness is generally one of the outstanding characteristics of these children.

If a man and November 19 is your natal day you probably have very strong convictions, an unusual sense of your obligations to your family and friends, and an amount of generosity that at times might be detrimental to your own interests.

As an architect, botanist, chemist, historical research worker, scientist, sales representative or author you may win gratifying recognition and an enviable financial standing.

Successful People Born on November 19:

James A. Garfield, 20th president of the United States

Fitzhugh Lee, soldier and governor.

Lee Claflin, philanthropist.

Campbell Morfit, chemist.

Barnes Sears, educator.

John A. Winslow, rear-admiral.

Dinner and Bridge Party Is Given at Clintonville Hotel

Clintonville—Mrs. D. J. Rohrer, Mrs. Richard Milbauer, Miss Viola Behling and Miss Hilda Besserdich entertained friends at a 6:30 dinner and bridge Wednesday evening at the Hotel Marston. The tables were decorated in keeping with the Thanksgiving season. Eleven tables of bridge were in play, honors going to Mr. W. L. Gould, Mrs. L. A. Heuer, Mrs. R. A. Greb and Mrs. Arthur Campbell. The occasion marked the fortieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Rohrer.

Mrs. Minnie Knister left Wednesday for several weeks' visit with friends at Rhinelander, her former home.

Harry Clemons of Fort Worth, Texas, is visiting for a few days with his mother, Mrs. Jennie Clemons. Mrs. Clemons moved Wednesday from the Zimmerman residence on W. Second street to the Henry Triegfall house on Hemlock street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Long were in Milwaukee Monday and Tuesday, where they attended the Wisconsin and Upper Michigan florists' convention at the Plankinton hotel. Monday's sessions were devoted to talks for growers, while on Tuesday there was a school of demonstration. The banquet took place Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Frisch and son Walter were in Milwaukee Thursday, where they attended the funeral of Lee DeGraf. His survivors are the widow and an infant daughter, Mrs. DeGraf is a cousin of George Frisch of this city.

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will sponsor another in a series of dances at the I. O. O. F. hall Friday evening, Nov. 18.

Women of St. Rose congregation will hold a food sale at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Nov. 19, at the Heuer furniture store.

The American Legion auxiliary will conduct a rummage sale Monday at the Knights of Columbus hall.

The November meeting of the American Legion auxiliary will take place Monday evening and the Junior auxiliary will meet at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Erwin Schweiger has purchased the Clintonville cafe formerly owned and operated by Earl Grimes.

Roy Martin, A. V. Chamberlain, G. A. Seidel and Myron Rand, officers of the Clintonville Masonic lodge, attended a school of instruction Wednesday evening at New London.

SELLS CANDY

Decorat. Ill. —GP— Sheriff Emory Thornell sees that some of his county jail prisoners get candy—if they can pay for it.

He got the idea from an inmate who said that the only thing the jail needed was candy for prisoners "coming off a drunk."

"A man shut off from his liquor craves something sweet," the prisoner said, "and if you satisfy that craving you will create a better prisoner."

The sheriff tried it and found the theory worked well. So now Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Smith, night turnkey, gets candy for the prisoners wishing to buy it.

Revoke Cheney's License to Sell Stocks and Bonds

Securities Commission Completes Order for Revoking Permit

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The securities division of the state banking commission has completed an order for the revocation of the securities dealers license of Marshall C. Cheney, Appleton dealer, Gregory Buznli, division chief, said today.

Various transgressions of the banking commission's regulations in the sale of stocks were charged against Cheney at two hearings last month.

Counts against Cheney, Buznli said, included failure to report sales of unregistered stocks, the filing of a verified financial statement of the condition of his business which a commission examiner showed to be false, failure to report sales of stocks in which the profit exceeded five points or 10 per cent, and borrowing of customers' securities for pledging in business during his insolvency.

The commission order said that despite the fact that Cheney's secretary, Helen Chivington, testified that she filed the inaccurate statement of condition without apprising Cheney of its inaccuracy, that the commission could not believe that a businessman of Cheney's experience would not have known his true financial condition.

According to the division's examiner, who looked over the books of Cheney's office, his business showed a deficit on December 31, 1937, of $7,315.42, although Cheney's statement to the commission, filed his net worth to be $15,245.58.

The list of unregistered securities in February of this year, declared sales charged against Cheney by the commission included these issues: Missouri Pipe Line company, Arnold Print Works, Florida Portland Cement company, Gleaner Harvester company, Haskellite Manufacturing, Hotel St. George, London Terrace, Inc., National Bronze and Aluminum Foundry, Philadelphia company, Republic Natural Gas company, United Printers and Publishers, and U. S. Plywood.

'Field Meet' Is Held By Methodist Guild At Marion Gathering

Marion—The Ladies Guild of the Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors with more than forty present. Each member invigorated a field meet. The program was arranged for a field meet, the women being grouped to represent colleges in four different towns. Each captain picked her team to take part in the several meets, the broad jump, foot race and the shotput. The college band was out in uniform. Mrs. Ralph Parfitt gave a humorous reading on football, in the Norwegian dialect and Mrs. Herman Peters gave an imitation of Galli Curci singing two selections. "Caroline college" won the most points in the meet and was awarded a loving cup.

After the program a pot luck supper was served in buffet style. The Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Wiese of Clintonville also were guests. Harvey Meyer was host to the Skat club, Wednesday evening. Prize winners were Dan Tribby, Henry Bowers, Jr., A. J. Olson and Jack Miller.

Mrs. Will Borchardt entertained the Joker club Wednesday evening at her home. High score was held by Mrs. H. A. Spiegel; second high by Mrs. E. S. Byers and low, by Mrs. Regina Daley.

The Schafskopf club met with Herman Peters Monday evening. High scores were held by Will Borchardt and Herman Braun and Will Zietlow held low.

Mrs. Dan Wulke was hostess to the Emeritus club on Tuesday evening. Bridge was played with high prize going to Mrs. Lionel Fox and low prize to Mrs. Ren Parks.

Community Methodist church services on Sunday will be held at 9:15 a. m. and Sunday school will be held at 10:15. There will be special music by the choir. The Rev. W. H. Wiese is pastor.

St. John's Lutheran church services Sunday will be as follows: English services at 9:30 a. m. and Sunday school at 10:30.

Services Sunday in the Salem Evangelical church will be held at 9:30 a. m. and Sunday school at 10:30.

The schedule of masses at St. Mary's Catholic church has been changed for the winter months and now early mass will be held at 8:30 a. m. and late mass at 10:30. The mass Sunday will be at 10:30. Catechism for the children is held at the church on Saturday afternoons by the Rev. Father Schaefer, pastor.

Fred Hofman, Elmer Byers, B. E. Meyer and Herman Spiegel attended a meeting Wednesday, of the Highway 45 club and were guests of the Land of Lakes Chamber of Commerce at the new Gateway hotel. Fred Hofman was elected vice president of the highway club.

A jamboree was sponsored by the fire department Tuesday evening at the village hall. Dancing and the duck shoot furnished most of the entertainment.

A daughter was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gollnow. Mrs. Gollnow is the former Mildred Laux of Clintonville.

Mussolini Is Not the One to Say Anything About Gangsters

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Mussolini has less right than anybody else in the world except Hitler to point the finger of scorn at the United States as a land of gangsters.

In his book "Personal History" Jimmy Sheean spoke of being in Venice in the very early days of fascism, living in the premises of a seedy old nobleman who ran a little gambling joint and paid tribute to a gang of young extortioners whom he called fascisti. The name was meaningless to a stranger then, but the old gambler explained that the fascisti were young hoodlums who compelled merchants and others to kick in, failing which they would be beaten or killed and their property destroyed.

After that the fascisti came along to grab control of local governments, then the national government, and presently to employ on behalf of the Italian nation the same psychology and methods—in brief gangsterism—toward other countries.

Now, to be sure, the extortion system is familiar to Americans. Hoodlums prey on shippers, merchants and others in collusion with minor politicians, and sometimes with the police, and destroy their property, sometimes even kill them, if they do not come through.

But Mussolini didn't get the idea of fascism from our gangsters, nor did they get their idea from him. He and our gangsters got it from Sicily and Naples, where gangsterism, under other names, was a robust institution along toward the end of the last century.

The Mafia was a Sicilian organization which routed the regular police and grew so strong that it had the force of government. The poor common people submitted to the Mafia and placed themselves under its protection, and the more aggressive spirits became professional brigands, assassins and extortioners. Travel was dangerous, and the murder rate rose as high as 27 per 100,000. In our land of gangsters a rate of 5 per 100,000 is considered very deplorable, and that includes non-negligent manslaughter as well.

The Sicilian mafia had a code whereby persons who had been wronged, even unto death, considered it ignoble to tell the police authorities, knowing that their comrades would avenge them. J. Edgar Hoover calls this the rat code, but it is really the mafia code, imported from Sicily. We did have our close-mouthed Hatfields and McCoys, but they were landlocked mountaineers and family feudists, not brigands and extortioners. Immigrants Included

About 1890, in the New Orleans, the mafia got so bad that a citizens' committee broke open the jail and lynched eleven of them for murdering David Hennessy, the chief of police, who had interfered with their gang. This caused international trouble, and this country had to pay Italy $25,000.

Hundreds of thousands of Sicilians were fleeing to the United States to escape the terrible poverty and ignorance in which they were held at home. Most of them were good, hard-working people, but naturally a certain proportion of mafia terrorists came, too. The innocent immigrants, by training and tradition, were afraid to trust the police, so the mafia murdered and extorted at will. For a long time they confined their operations to their own frightened countrymen. Later they branched out, and native Americans of various racial strains extended the system to the general public.

Old-Age Benefits Total $28,000 in Last Month

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington—Wisconsin's old-age insurance claims certified for payment in October totaled 456, amounting to $28,055.96 or an average payment of $61.53, the social security board reports.

The number of claims filed in Wisconsin since the program went into effect Jan. 1, 1937 to the end of October, 1938, total 5,640 and represent payments of $236,368.82. For the entire country, claims certified during October were 17,515, making a total of 234,083 claims certified since the program went into effect. Payments authorized in October amounted to $1,082,621.42, bringing the total payments to $9,622,360.86. Payments for October averaged $61.81, the highest monthly payment average since the old-age system became effective.

Funeral services for Jerome Van Lankvelt, 14, who died Tuesday morning at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Van Lankvelt, after a lingering illness, were conducted at 8 o'clock Thursday morning at St. John church by the Rev. Robert Klein. Burial took place in the parish cemetery and the Rev. Gerald Van Nuland had charge of the service at the grave.

The bearers were Gerald Peeters, Alvin Nieling, Owen Wildenberg, Eugene Bevers, Merlyn Vestergren and Clifford Karrels. The honorary bearers were: Joseph Look, Vincent Brassers, Merlyn Wildenberg, Florian De Groot, John Jansen and Clarence Vanden Heuvel.

Survivors are the parents, four brothers, Wilbur, Harvey, James and Roger and three sisters, Dorcas, Joan and Carol. He was a member of the Junior Holy Name society of St. John church and the Catholic Knights. Members of the freshmen class of St. John High school, of which the decedent was a member attended the funeral in a body.

the same way about the same time.

The Camorra began as a secret organization in prison, and as the criminals got out they carried on, enlarging their scope. They murdered, robbed, shook down brothel keepers and prostitutes, ran lotteries, terrorized elections, controlled public officials and got so bad that in 1890 the Italian crown suspended the crooked local government of Naples and substituted a royal commission.

The name "gangster" is American, but we got the idea, the method, the psychology and the original cast from Mussolini's own Sicily and Naples, in fact, it has been only a few years since Mussolini himself broke up the mafia as a nuisance and disgrace to Italy. One mob smashed another, as often happens here.

All this is in the public libraries, written without passion and without challenge and merely as historical fact.

Little Chute — Funeral services for Matthew Driessen, 63, who died Tuesday morning after an illness of four weeks were conducted at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at St. John church. Solemn requiem high mass was sung by the Rev. John J. Sprangers assisted by the Rev. Robert Klein and the Rev. Gerald Van Nuland of this village and the Rev. James Geyer of Chilton. Burial took place in the parish cemetery and the Rev. Robert Klein had charge of the service at the grave.

The bearers were George Williamson, George Wynboom, Raymond Williamson, Frank Reynbeau, John Williamson, Joseph Driessen. The decedent had lived in this village all of his life. Surviving are two daughters, Misses Nellie and Marie; seven sons, George, Peter, John, Henry, Clarence, Raymond and Lester, all of Little Chute; two brothers, Fred of Hutchinson, Kans., and two sisters, Mrs. Peter Reynbeau of Little only sign of life the swinging cable, the throb of the motor, Ten o'clock. Mid-morning.

Don't Marry The Man

By Jeanne Bowman

A man appeared from the commissary. Kathleen hurried to him. "What news?" she begged.

"Not much. They gave up trying to break through first, drilled in with an air hole; hope to shoot through medical supplies if there's anyone on the other end can use them."

"And when was that?" "Several hours ago . . . wait, here come a skip."

"Dog-weary muckers stumbled out. There was no sign of hope on their worn faces, nothing but abject defeat."

"Yes, the air hole went through. MacDonald called, there was no answer."

They went on their way and Kathleen and the man stood in silence.

His clumsy hand patted Kathleen's shoulder. "Don't take that as final. They may be through to another level; may be only a pocket there. Then too, the men fall in a stupor sometimes; lay there hours before it's too late."

"There's Life!" Kathleen nodded, then tensed.

Another skip was up, a man in a slicker, engineer or official was running, calling as he ran. "We're through . . . get the canaries! Get MacDonald!"

"They're through!" Where the scene had been deserted it was now thronged and mad cries of joy took up the song. "They're through! They've broken through!"

Men in grotesque costumes came running out, slipping oxygen tanks over their heads as they ran, swinging cages with tiny fluffy canaries in them. Little yellow birds that preened with dismay, unaware of their hero roles. More sensitive to poison air than any living thing.

they would collapse before the insidious air crept into the lungs of unsuspecting crew. Only a few lay crew; the others, the picked men were already down; they'd been there waiting for hours.

Then Kathleen saw Donald MacDonald and she felt as though her heart had welled up and was pushing out of her breast towards him. He was running. Someone was handing him an oxygen tank, shouting at him as they kept pace. Kathleen called to him just as he slipped the mask over his face. He seemed to hesitate as though wondering if he had heard a voice, then adjusted the gear, stepped into the skip and dropped from sight. She ran on to the mine collar.

"He's going in first," someone said. "He served his time on the crew; felt he ought to take the first risk. That's Young Donald; if anyone has to die to find out what's on the other side, he's going to be that one."

Kathleen sank onto the timber pile, tears coursing down her cheeks. "And I said I never wanted to see him again."

She sat huddled in a tight, tense position. He had loved her, Bridget said he had and she, well she knew it too. Yet she had let him go down believing she hated him. She could have given him the chance to explain but she'd listened to her pride.

Moments passed. Cats came down from Neutrality, came over from the MacDonald mines. People crowded into a compact mass, miners' wives in the foreground.

Kathleen marveled at the stoical calm of these women who waited at this, the eleventh hour, with no show of emotion. Yet, how they must feel! After their long hours of waiting, how they must wish to rush through the cordon and fight their way down to that waited-for hole to learn for themselves the fate of their men.

Moments passed, melted into half hours, hours. The spring sun beat down in a silent golden ball. Few words were spoken. The skip hadn't come up, it seemed, for eons.

And then the cable rattled, the roar of the approaching cage was heard. Every breath in the crowd was held, then expelled in a long sigh as Morgan stepped out, his face white.

"MacDonald is through. The men are all there. He says there is life. That's all for now."

Later, a second report. "Jock Arthur, unconscious but breathing. First man carried out."

Kathleen knew the next hour was the longest in her life. The skip was coming up slowly now. And each trip brought with it a stretcher and on the stretcher a silent figure, but with life.

Kathleen was called into action. There weren't enough nurses. Oxygen had been fed slowly, now there must be nourishment induced with equal slowness. These lives which had been so close to death must be brought back slowly, lest the feeble connecting line break.

She scanned each face. They were mostly strangers to her. And

County Nurses of Wisconsin Observe Silver Anniversary

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—County nurses of Wisconsin are celebrating the 25th anniversary of the birth of an idea this year, it was pointed out today.

The county public health nursing system was inaugurated in Wisconsin 25 years ago with the establishment of the office of county nurse in Sheboygan county. Today the idea has spread to 37 counties which employ one or more nurses, including Outagamie and its neighbors in northeastern Wisconsin.

It was in 1913 that the state legislature passed the first law providing for county nurses, but the enactment said such action was optional with the county boards, and offered no inducements to persuade them to employ such officers.

Annual Subsidy

Since 1935, however, the state has granted an annual subsidy of $1,000 to every county which has a county nurse. With the aid of federal support in addition, many new counties have been reported recently as employing nurses.

Under the new federal program, part of the social security law, seven Wisconsin counties are now being assisted in financing their nursing offices, including Adams, Burnett, Washburn, Sawyer, Price, Taylor and Forest. They get $1,000 a year each. Since the state law requires counties to appropriate at least $500, these counties are getting $2,000 of state and federal funds in return for $500 of their own.

Supervising the work of these local health officers is Miss Cornelia Van Kooy, who has been in the nursing department of the state board of health since the program was launched a quarter of a century ago.

Miss Serrec Tells Students At Charm School How to Use Adornments to Best Advantage

BRAVING THE RAINY WEATHER to be present at the grand finale of the Post-Crescent 4-day charm school, a large crowd of women listened to Miss Janette Serrec's closing words of advice, heard her make her farewells and showed their appreciation of her nightly lectures and informal discussions with prolonged applause as she left the stage last night at Castle hall.

There was a lot of good-natured banter passed between audience and lecturer last night, with a bit of by-play between Miss Serrec and H. L. Davis, Jr., master of ceremonies for the charm school, which made for informality and good will. The models in the style show came in for their share of applause, too, and the atmosphere in the hall was one of good fellowship, indicating that the damp weather out of doors had not penetrated to the spirits of the "students."

In her closing words Miss Serrec injected a philosophical note, making a plea for right thinking and a courageous stand on the truth in these times of threats, horrors, disasters and unrest.

She devoted the main text of her lecture to the theory that "fine feathers make fine birds," and pointed out ways in which lines, color and accent can conceal figure defects and make the most of one's good points.

"We have to live up to our clothes and our adornments or they will not be effective," Miss Serrec said, adding that the woman in any gathering whom one sees first is not the best dressed woman in the room.

She went on to explain that what colors can be worn depends entirely on the individual. Black envelops the personality and overcomes it, while white grains the personality, she said, therefore it requires a vivid, strong type to wear either. Blue is the coldest of colors but is the most feminine, suggesting poise and sweetness, while red is the warmest and most friendly, the speaker pointed out. However, red should not be worn by a negative person for it overshadows her.

Rules of Dress

Miss Serrec stated a few of the more general rules of dress such as short stout persons wearing vertical lines to give them height and slenderize them and tall thin women wearing horizontal lines, high collars and short strands of beads or necklaces. Belts are bad for the person with a large girth for they tend to call attention to the size of the waistline, particularly if they are of different fabric or color from the rest of the garment.

The speaker recommended fitting the waistline high as this tends to give length to the legs, an effect which is much striven for in magazine art and the like. She suggested that make-up be adapted to ones face rather than to ones clothes, and said that as a woman grows older she ought to lighten the shade of her make-up. Fabrics which suggest size are the metal cloths, lustre, sequins, velvet and satin, Miss Serrec said, and are therefore to be avoided by the large woman. A very thin woman should avoid the heavy or shiny fabrics also, as they seem not suited to her size and type.

The importance of proper foundation garments was demonstrated in the style show which featured garments from Pettibone's for figures of various sizes. Formal gowns from Pettibone's, pajamas and house coats from Campbell's Dollar store, furs from F. J. Grist furrier and shoes from Heckert's completed the showing. Mrs. F. J. Leonard, president of Appleton Federated Women's club, acted as hostess last night.

Receive Gifts

Mrs. Roger Harrmann, 1314 W. Pine street, became the owner of the General Electric radio from the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. Ethel Hicklinboam, 902 W. Packard street, received a fur muff from F. J. Grist furrier, Gloria E. Schroeder, 209 W. Pacific street, will be given 10 free riding lessons at Appleton riding club, and Irma Krause, 125 W. College avenue, was presented with a wool jacket from Fond's Sport Shop. Four pounds of coffee from S. C. Shannon company went to Mrs. Clarence Schroeder, 511 N. Drew street; a bouquet of flowers from Riverside greenhouse to Corinne Seggelink, Kaukauna; and Christmas cards from E. W. Shannon office supplies to Mrs. Harold Kamps, 810 W. Third street. Mrs. Ted Shepherd, 140 N. Badger avenue, became the possessor of the decorated cake from the Elm Tree bakery, and pajamas from Campbell's Dollar store went to Jennie Van Wyk, 1415 N. Morrison street, and Helen McCoy, 744 W. Prospect avenue. Several pairs of hosiery from Pettibone's were given to women at the charm school last night, namely Miss Christina Rasmussen, 908 N. Superior street; Joan Gerlach, 702 N. Oneida street; Arlene Bohl, N. Charlotte street; Evangeline Nettekoven, Kaukauna; and Mrs. W. A. Grossman, 519 E. Spring street.

Jo Andre face cream was presented to Mrs. A. W. Miller, 727 E. North street, candy from Oaks candy company to Mrs. Walter Zeutzius, 528 E. McKinley street, a game from Conkey's book store to Mrs. Glenn Fennel, 532 N. Meade street, and sets of Miss Serrec's charm guides to Mrs. William Mountain, 315 E. Washington street, and Mrs. Carl Wergin, 1713 N. Oneida street.

Dr. Culver to Be Speaker at Union Service

THE annual union Thanksgiving service sponsored by Appleton Ministerial association will take place at 9:30 next Thursday morning at Emmanuel Evangelical church. Dr. Harry C. Culver, pastor of First Methodist church, will be the speaker and the Rev. G. H. Blum, pastor of the host church, will be in charge of the program.

At least 16 members of the Brotherhood of First English Lutheran church will attend the organization meeting of the State Brotherhood Federation at 2:15 next Sunday afternoon at Immanuel Trinity church, Fond du Lac. A banquet will take place at 5:30 in the evening at the Retlaw hotel at which Dr. W. S. Soti, third vice president of the American Lutheran church, will be speaker.

Young Ladies sodality of St. Therese church will receive communion in a body at the 7:30 mass Sunday morning. There will be no breakfast afterwards because of preparations for the play, "Clover Time," to be given Sunday and Tuesday.

A festival service of thanksgiving will take place at 10:50 Sunday morning at Memorial Presbyterian church, consisting of a series of processions to the altar by representatives and groups bringing symbols of things for which they are thankful. The children of the Sunday school will participate in the service as well as adults.

Among the gifts to be dedicated are two to be used in the sanctuary, namely a pair of candlesticks from an anonymous donor and a Bible given by American Association of University Women in memory of Mrs. Rex Wells. Decorations will consist of sheaves of wheat, barely and corn as well as colorful fruits and vegetables.

Colleagians to Hold Thanksgiving Dance

A ticket box resembling a large pumpkin has been installed at Alexander gymnasium to help give a seasonal atmosphere for Lawrence college's annual Thanksgiving dance Saturday night. A nationally known Chicago orchestra has been engaged for the event, and a record crowd is expected. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Beck, Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Griffiths and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Troyer have been asked to chaperon, and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Barrows, Dr. and Mrs. John Milis and Miss Ruth Cope have been invited as guests.

54th Wedding Anniversary Is Observed

MR. and Mrs. John Laeyendecker, Sr., Kimberly, are observing their fifty-fourth wedding anniversary today. They attended a high mass of thanksgiving at 8 o'clock this morning at Holy Name church, Kimberly, with Rev. C. B. Vanden Borne officiating.

The couple was married in 1884 and came to the United States in April, 1889. For a time Mr. Laeyendecker worked on a railroad at Kaukauna and later moved to Little Chute. In 1890 the couple moved to Buchanan which is now a part of Kimberly where Mr. Laeyendecker was employed by the Kimberly Clark corporation building the sulphite mill. Later he was transferred to the beaters and was beater engineer for eight years.

After leaving the mill Mr. Laeyendecker went into the tavern business from which he retired in 1926. Mrs. Laeyendecker was born in Utrecht, Holland, Feb. 26, 1854, while Mr. Laeyendecker was born at Overselt, Holland, Dec. 4, 1860. Mr. and Mrs. Laeyendecker made two trips to Holland during the former's business career. They have two children, John, Jr., Appleton, Mrs. Clarence Melcher, Racine. They also have four grandchildren. Relatives and friends will be entertained at their home during the evening.

DePere Girl Will be Kaukauna Man's Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mauer, DePere, have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, LaVerne, to Earl Thiele, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thiele, Kaukauna. The ceremony will take place at 2 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon at St. John's Lutheran church, DePere.

Music Study Group Holds First Session

The first meeting of a music study and appreciation group to be sponsored by Appleton Woman's club was held yesterday afternoon at the club house following the rehearsal of the club chorus. A program was presented under the direction of Mrs. J. F. Kenkel, chairman, Mrs. Melvin Knoke, Mrs. Fred Bendt and Mrs. Nita Brinckley.

Mrs. G. A. Warner gave a Thanksgiving reading, the chorus sang "Thanks Be to God" and "Bird Songs at Eventide" under the direction of Miss Helen Mueller, and Miss Myrtle Lecker sang a German song, also "Estrellita" and a lullaby. Mrs. Ray M. Peeters gave a sketch of the life of Wagner and Miss Mueller presented the background and story of "Die Meistersinger." Mrs. Alex Young played piano selections, "The Last Hope" and an original composition entitled "Reverie."

Tea was served after the program with Mrs. Jay Williams in charge. No definite plans were made for organizing a permanent group, but it is expected that another meeting will be held in January. Thirty women were present. The group is open to any member of Appleton Woman's club.

Never let baked custard, custard pies or puddings stand in a warm room after they have cooled. Store them in a cold place. This is very important. As soon as pumpkin pies are cool, place them in a cold place, too.

Women's Team Tops North, South Players In Contract Tourney

Mrs. H. A. DeBauter and Mrs. N. J. Wilnot were first for north and south with 1004 match points, and Charles Boyd and William Roemer were first for east and west with 1103 at last night's session of the contract bridge tournament played weekly at the Conway hotel.

Other high scorers were E. J. Van Vonderen and Mrs. Charles Boyd, second, north and south, with 923 match points; Dr. George Massart and John Neller, third, north and south, with 87; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Long, second, east and west, with 1099; and Mrs. Dan Steinberg, Sr., and Mrs. Norman Brokaw, third, east and west, with 93.

Because of the Thanksgiving day holiday next Thursday, the tournament will be played on Wednesday night instead of Thursday.

Play will be continued Monday night in the contract bridge tournament played weekly at Elks hall under the auspices of the Appleton Contract Bridge association.

Constant Practice Is Price of Fame For Helen Jepson

Helen Jepson, glamorous Metropolitan Opera soprano who will be heard at Memorial chapel on the Community Nov. 30, divides her time between her luxurious apartment in New York city and her lodge in the Catskills.

Her Manhattan apartment is most striking. The rooms are vast and lofty. Miss Jepson's studio has a grand piano in one corner. Furnishings are along spacious lines, armchairs of an earlier epoch, a chaise longue and tall lamps placed on scattered tables create a pleasing effect. The studio leads into an immense dining room.

Miss Jepson's daily schedule is full. For two hours in the morning she vocalizes and practices with her accompanist. Next comes the reading of fan mail. A short walk, luncheon, and a brief rest follow. At 5 o'clock the accompanist appears again and there is another practice period.

The routine is, of course changed when opera or concert rehearsals with orchestra demand her, but always there is the early morning practice. Spare time in the afternoon is given to walking or shopping. In the evening Miss Jepson often attends opera when she is not singing in the cast.

She is a radiantly happy individual who works hard and yet finds time to enjoy herself with every-day human pleasures.

Student Council Will Chart Plans for Dance

'The Messiah' To be Sung at Chapel Dec. 3

Foremost among Lawrence college traditions is the annual performance of Handel's famous oratorio, "The Messiah," which will be given at Memorial chapel Sunday evening, Dec. 4. This will be sung by the Schola Cantorum under the direction of Carl J. Waterman. The first performance of this famous oratorio was given for the benefit of charity at the Music hall in Dublin in April, 1742, with Handel conducting the performance in person. This first presentation was given just seven months after the composer had completed the score, which took him just twenty-four days. No musical work has had such long, continuous and enduring popularity as the "Messiah," nor has any other so materially aided the cause of charity. Much of the veneration with which it is regarded is, doubtless, owing to the subject, but much also must be attributed to the splendid music.

Famous and well-loved among the choruses are the stirring "Glory to God" and "Lift Up Your Heads," the intricately beautiful "For Unto Us a Child is Born," the solemn "Surely He Hath Born Our Griefs," and the magnificent "Hallelujah" and "Amen" choruses. Famous, too, are the tenor solos, "Comfort Ye, My People" and "Every Valley Shall be Exalted," the solos "Rejoice Greatly" and "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" for soprano, "He Shall Feed His Flock" and "He Was Despised" for alto, and the solos for baritone "For Who May Abide the Day of His Coming" and "Why Do the Nations So Furiously Rage Together."

Cover chilled diced fruits or berries with strained honey and serve as appetizer or dessert. Add a few drops of lemon juice, too, for improved flavor.

Relief Corps Will Name New Officers At Meeting Dec. 1

The Women's Relief corps, auxiliary to George D. Eggleston post, Grand Army of the Republic, at its meeting Thursday afternoon at Elks hall, made plans for a pot-luck luncheon at its next meeting, on Dec. 1, at which time officers also will be elected. Arrangements also were made for a Christmas party for members on Dec. 15. Mrs. Katherine Wheeler was appointed chairman of the committee in charge of the party. She will have as her assistants Mrs. Augusta Sanders, Mrs. Adorah Hauer, Mrs. Lydia Bauer and Mrs. Marie Cavert. Capsular sisters will be revealed at the party.

The corps' charter is draped for 30 days in memory of the late Mrs. Anna Joslin.

Mrs. Jack Benton, 824 E. Minor street, was hostess to her bridge club Thursday afternoon at her home. Prizes went to Mrs. Ed Miller, Mrs. H. L. Davis, Jr., second, and Mrs. Kenneth Pinkerton, low. Mrs. Sydney Shannon, N. Green Bay street, will entertain the club in two weeks.

Mrs. Charles Selig entertained the Thursday club at her home, 415 E. South River street, yesterday. Schafkopf prizes went to Mrs. Selig and Mrs. John Beaulieu. In two weeks the club will meet with Mrs. Peter Dietzen, 1621 W. Rogers avenue.

Flake Spun Rayon Dresses
In Smart Prints for Early Winter
These smartly styled dresses have the advantage of being simple enough to wear at home as house frocks and yet the fabrics, the styles, the patterns, the colors are all suitable for wear outside your house, too. Slip your coat on over one of these new dresses and you are suitably dressed for shopping or any daytime activity. The fabric was intended for higher priced frocks, so the value is unusual. Also printed homespuns, Roman stripe cottons, printed piques and floral prints at the same price.

G. Caesar, Mrs. Marvin Babler, Mrs. John Fumal, Mrs. Theodore Utschig and Mrs. Louise Uebele.

Farm Youths No Longer Leaving the Country

Portland, Ore.—(P)—There is no longer a universal desire among farm youth to desert the country for the city, delegates to the National Grange convention agreed today.

The urge to leave the farm largely disappeared, observed Mrs. Louis Taber, wife of the National Grange master, with the advent of the automobile, the radio and other comforts of the machine age.

Spanish Insurgents Preparing for Drive

Mendaye, France.—(A) The Spanish Frontiers.—Spanish insurgent armies were reported preparing a new general offensive today against Valencia and Tarragona on the eastern Spanish coast.

Fighting was suspended on all fronts after the insurgents announced they successfully pushed back a government thrust on the Ebro front. However, renewed insurgent action against the Mediterranean ports was believed imminent.

There has been little action since early summer on the Valencia front because the insurgents were forced to meet the militiamen's offensive on the Ebro river's west bank.

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMAN

The Problem of the Refugees

The problem of refugees has passed far beyond the scope of charity and private compassion, and if there is to be any approach to a statesman-like solution, we must look at it coolly and in clear perspective. For though at the moment the problem seems to turn upon the calculated suffering being inflicted upon the helpless Jews within Germany, the problem will soon involve, in fact it has already begun to involve, ethnic minorities of all kinds. Poles, Ruthenians, Hungarians, Czechs, Slovaks, as well as Jews, in that whole region of Central Europe which at Munich was opened to Nazi domination. We are witnessing a phenomenon like that in the great migrations of the fourth century when under the fierce pressure of the Huns behind them the tribes of Central Europe were pushed through the boundaries of the Roman Empire.

Though the cruel injustice of the Nazis is unique in the history of modern nations, the necessity for massive emigration out of Central Europe has existed for nearly a century. The reason is clear enough. From the sixth century to the nineteenth century, the total population did not rise above 180 millions. It was kept down by great epidemics like the black death, by a very high rate of infant mortality, by diseases that modern science and public health administration have since learned to prevent, and perhaps by biological causes that are quite obscure.

But after the year 1880 the population of Europe grew suddenly at a startling rate and by 1914 it had become 460 millions. The older Europe could obviously never have supported such a population. But in the nineteenth century two fundamental things made it possible not only to support such an increase of the European population but to support it in increasing comfort. The first of these was the industrial revolution and the world-wide division of labor under free trade, the other was the opening up to settlement by Europeans of the virgin lands of the Western Hemisphere. Europe lived by exporting manufactured goods, pioneer farmers, and artisans.

Powers Must Assist Any Great Migration
The World War marked the end of the regime of free trade and the end of the possibility of free migration. At once Central Europe became greatly overcrowded particularly in its cities. For the people of the cities, and thus, of course, included most of the central European Jews, depended for their existence at their customary standard of life upon a volume of international trade that was continually contracted in the post-war period. Immediately there were too many urban people, too many shopkeepers, too many professional men, too many artists and intellectuals, all in fierce competition for the narrowing opportunities of Europe. And minorities who cannot live in Europe under Nazi rule. That means not merely the finding of land and the opening of it to colonization but also pressure upon the Nazis not to aggravate the difficulty beyond all reason.

But that is not all it means. If this migration is to be organized, it will have to be a regimented movement of peoples under a strict political discipline. For only under a strict political discipline can the excessively urbanized migrants be re-educated and trained to the life of pioneers in a new country. This would be necessary in any event to make possible migration on a large scale; it will be essential in view of the inevitable nervous impairment which this persecution will have inflicted upon them. They cannot

New Congressmen and Wiley Hold Conference

Milwaukee—(P)—Wisconsin's new Republican "bloc" in congress met here yesterday to work out details of its activities.

Here for the conference were Senator-elect Alexander Wiley of Chippewa Falls, and four of the eight new Republican representatives: Stephen Bolles of Janesville, first district; Lewis D. Thill of Milwaukee, fifth; Harry Griswold, of West Salem, third, and Charles Hawks, Jr., of Horicon, second.

No discussion was held on legislative programs, Wiley said. A meeting of the full group is likely before the departure for Washington. Leadership of the house delegation may fall on Bolles, editor of the Janesville Gazette, others in the group indicated.

Children enjoy helping with dinner festivities for Thanksgiving so let them polish the fruits and vegetables, make vegetable candle holders and decorate the table. This saves mother and stimulates home interests.

Clinic Will be Held Wednesday

New London Pupils to Receive Vaccinations

New London—The immunization clinic of the American Red Cross chapter will be held at Washington High school Wednesday morning, Nov. 23, it was announced yesterday by Miss Loretta Rice, school nurse.

More than 800 New London school pupils will receive vaccinations for small pox and over 450 have consented to avoid inoculations for diphtheria. The treatments will be administered free of charge by New London physicians under the sponsorship of the Red Cross.

About 150 pre-school children have applied for the treatment despite the many who were cared for under the county program last year.

The clinic will open at 8 o'clock with high school students being treated first. Mothers will be asked to accompany pre-school children and pupils in the grades.

Applications for immunization will be received until the day of the clinic, according to Miss Rice.

Chamber Is Offering Prizes for Christmas Decoration of Homes

New London—For the first time New London residents will receive community recognition for their Christmas decorations of their homes this year. A first prize of $10 and second prize of $5 for the most attractive decorations were announced this week by the retail trades committee of the chamber of commerce to encourage bigger and better yuletide decorations in the residential section. Judge's will be selected to inspect decorated homes during the holiday season.

Decoration of the city's streets will be done early in December under the direction of Theodore Knapstein. The chamber of commerce voted an appropriation to assist the city and electric light utility in providing improved decorations for the business section this year.

Gray Fox Is Bagged Near New London; to Be Placed in Museum

New London—Another animal unusual these parts was shot near Popp's rock Wednesday when Bernard Myers, route 2, bagged a full grown gray fox after two days of hunting. Because of its full size and magnificent coat, the animal will be mounted and placed on exhibition at the New London Public museum. The carcass was shipped to Chicago taxidermists last night by the Rev. F. S. Dayton, curator, who identified the fox as an adult male of the gray species.

The fox measures 37 inches from nose to tip of tail. Myers discovered the animal's presence from tracks in the snow and gave chase Tuesday, giving up at dusk. His dog rounded the fox up in a short time Wednesday.

Officials Praise Colored Film on Safe Bike Riding

More Than 300 Persons See Preview of 'Hans- diebar Hazards'

A successful preview of a bicycle safety picture that is unique among steps designed to reduce accidents, was presented before more than 300 persons last night at the Wilson Junior High school. The film, probably the only one of its kind in the United States, is all in color with an Appleton locale. It was filmed by R. L. Swanson, Wilson school instructor, and received high praise from officials and others who attended the preview.

The theme of the colored movie is woven about the rules of safe bicycle riding listed on the "summons" tickets of the police bicycle safety bureau. Possible happenings when such rules are not observed are dramatized in the film.

West A. Burdick, Madison, state safety director, said the film is the first of its kind in the country and that it will boost Appleton's record as a safe city. He praised the cooperation that made filming of the safety picture possible and expressed the desire to borrow the film long enough to have copies made to be shown elsewhere in the state. The picture, he said, shows the three big E's of safety, engineering, education and enforcement.

Lauds Efforts

William E. Schubert, chairman of the meeting, told of the picture's background and lauded the efforts of the men and groups that cooperated in making of the picture. He said the picture is dedicated to the memory of Marcus "Mike" Stein, first, later, alderman and head of the traffic committee that cooperated in making the picture.

Mayor John Goodland said that the chief of police is the chief engineer of the city in safety. To Mike Steinhauser, the mayor said, goes 90 per cent of the credit for the safety picture as the late alderman was the main driving force behind the move. Mayor Goodland read letters of State Safety Director Burdick and President Thomas N. Barrows of Lawrence college, both of whom were present, which praised the motive behind the picture.

"There are about 3,000 bicycles in the city, and we are trying to educate our youths to drive safely. They will be the automobile drivers of tomorrow," the mayor said.

Chief of Police George T. Prim explained the work of the bicycle traffic bureau. There was a revival of the use of bikes a few years ago and police were in a quandary as how to regulate their use, Chief Prim said. Bicyclists paid no attention to traffic signs and road rules. The present bicycle ordinance and bureau in the city has proven so successful, the chief said, that requests for information about the program are being received by the department for many cities in and outside of the state. Appleton, he said, is one of twelve cities of its size in the United States that has not had a traffic fatality this year.

Ben J. Rohan, city superintendent of schools, lauded the work of the police and firemen in eliminating hazards on the streets and in the homes. With the advancement of science there have been advances that brought some evil with the good, he said, and some people are lax about the evils found in the form of additional hazards.

"The schools are trying to educate pupils to be safety conscious, but not safety cowards or safety darcdevils," he said.

The narrative to the film was given by Sergeant Carl Radtke, head of the police traffic division and the bicycle safety bureau. Police who appear in the film are Chief Prim, Sergeant Radtke, and Patrolmen Harry Salzman, Gustave Hersehorn, Adna Thomack, Orville Abendroth.

Fox River Valley, Lake Shore Jewelers Clubs are Combined

Merging of the Fox River Valley Jewelers club and the Lake Shore Jewelers club highlighted a joint meeting at Manitowish last night. The new organization will be known as the Fox River Valley and Lake Shore Jewelers club.

Ray Treiber, president of the Fox River Valley club, said this morning officers of the new organization would be named at a February meeting in Oshkosh.

Among those from Appleton attending the dinner meeting were Otto H. Fisher, Morris Spector, R. L. Avery, Norman Tews and Treiber.

E. R. Fuchs, Milwaukee, president of the state association, reported on the national convention held in New York last August. Other speakers were Henry Stecker, Milwaukee, vice president of the national association, and D. W. Heald, Milwaukee, secretary of the Wisconsin Watchmakers association.

PUT OUT CAR FIRE

Firemen were called out at 7:50 last night when a car owned by John Van Handel, Little Chute, caught fire from an overheated exhaust. The car was parked at the old post office building. Little damage resulted.

COLLEGE AVENUE SPORTS NEW CHRISTMAS REGALIA
College avenue will be more dressed up for the Christmas season than ever before and the above picture shows the attractive arches which will span the city's main thoroughfare from Drew to Richmond street. The arches are affixed to alternate lampposts. On other posts will be lighted Santa Claus faces. The new decorations were sponsored by the retail division of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce. New Plants Move Into State, Governor-Elect Declares as He Promises to Reduce Costs come to you and ask you to pay your taxes in advance!"

Heil urged the manufacturers to give Wisconsin cheese and other farm products for Christmas gifts to their customers.

"I've been sending out 15,000 five pound jars of cheese to my customers," he declared. "There are a lot of things besides cheese you can send from Wisconsin. Some of you fellows have been giving away hams—and we've had to import those hams."

Introduced By Kohler

Former Governor Walter J. Kohler, introducing Heil, said that in the recent state election "the embattled farmers and workers fired a shot heard around the world." Election results, he declared, will augur well for business in coming months and will do much in returning the unemployed to work."

Wiley said an industrial democracy is necessary to maintain a political democracy.

"The American political tide has changed," he said, "but we must not interpret the recent action of the electorate as a return to our political perspective of 25 years ago. It is important that we realize the changes in objectives of government which have come about since the World war."

Backs Good Measures

In the election, he said, such things as social security, collective bargaining, stock market regulation, federal relief and federal assumption of the farm problem "were not in issue."

"As I see it," Wiley declared, "it is our obligation to support those measures which would offer constructive solutions to our problems and to oppose those which would undermine our democracy."

F. H. Clausen of Horicon, vice president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, denounced the federal works program as competing with private industry and setting up an "intolerable" debt structure.

"With the ever-increasing rates of taxation on private industry," Clausen said, "the government swings a two-edged sword which cuts and slashes in both directions. First, the ability of the private corporation to pay taxes to support its government competitor is weakened, and second, the load of taxes is thereby made heavier."

"A $300,000 plant giving employment to a few men in a productive enterprise with a prospective growth from earnings is more valuable to the future welfare of the country than any $3,000,000 public building erected in the name of PWA."

Mail Invitations

To Grid Banquet

Fritz Crisler, Michigan Coach, Will be Main Speaker

Invitations for the football banquet at the Masonic temple Nov. 29 in honor of Lawrence college and Appleton High school players were sent out today, Kenneth H. Corbett, Chamber of Commerce secretary, reported.

Fritz Crisler, University of Michigan coach, will be the speaker at the banquet. Corbett said this morning that there will be accommodations for 500 people and urged that reservations be in by a week from today, Nov. 25.

Tickets may be obtained at Corbett's office, from R. H. Purdy, president of the chamber, John P. Reeve, president of the Lawrence X-men's club, at Pond Sport shop and Johnston's Book Store.

The banquet, which will start at 6:15, will be open to both men and women. Purdy will preside with Joseph Koffend, chairman of the committee, as toastmaster. Coach Bernie Heselson of Lawrence college and Coach Wallace Cole of Appleton High school will present letters to the players.

Bridegroom Shoots to Scare Charivariers; Gun Pellets Hit Girl

Bernice Arnoldussen, 10, 1113 Oviatt street, Kaukauna, is in St. Elizabeth hospital today after being accidentally struck in the forehead and left ankle by shotgun pellets at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dietrich, route 2, Kaukauna, about 9 o'clock last night. Her condition is not serious.

Dietrich, who was married Thursday, thought relatives were making too much noise at a charivari at the rear of the farm home and he attempted to scare them by shooting his shotgun, it was reported. The bridegroom pointed the gun at the ground and fired, but some of the pellets went through openings of a small building and struck the girl, it was said. The victim is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arnoldussen.

Five Persons Injured In Traffic Collision

New London — Five persons received minor scratches and bruises in an accident involving a gravel truck and two cars at the bottom of Northport hill two miles west of New London on Highway 54 at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Raymond Sperberg, Shawano, was driving the empty truck east on the highway and was passing a car being driven by George Breukel, Chicago, when the truck and a car driven west by Howard J. McMurray, Madison, collided, according to Waupaca County Patrolman Roy Myhill, who investigated. The truck went into a ditch on the left hand side of the road and the McMurray machine swerved around. The latter machine and Breukel's car then collided. Officer Myhill said. The cars and truck were badly damaged. W. H. Zange, Green Bly, was riding with Breukel and Howard Herm, Shawano, with Sperberg.

Decorations Best In City's History

18 Arches Will Span Avenue; Christmas Opening Nov. 25

College avenue's 1938 Christmas decorations will be the gayest and most impressive in the city's history.

Eighteen handsome arches, trimmed in evergreen and topped with 40-inch, illuminated stars, will span the avenue from Drew to Richmond street. Lamp posts not used in anchoring the arches will carry lighted Santa Claus faces.

Street department workmen, using a tall scaffold atop a truck, worked yesterday and today erecting the strands that will turn the avenue into one of the most brilliant Christmas thoroughfares in this region. The city's retailers contributed $1,000 to pay for the decorations.

The design was worked out by Clark Teel, chairman of the committee, and Lester Asmus, Louis Luebke, city electrician, has been in charge of the technical work attending the erection of the decorations. Two special transformers have been installed by the Wisconsin Michigan Power company to handle the power for the hundreds of lights.

The decorations will be illuminated for the first time on the day of the official Christmas opening, Friday, Nov. 25. The lights will be kept illuminated from about 5 o'clock in the afternoon to 10 o'clock at night during the Yuletide season.

Official of FWD Dies in California

Former Wisconsin Sales Manager Succumbs in Los Angeles

E. M. McClean, manager of the Four Wheel Drive company branch office at Los Angeles, Calif., and former resident of Clintonville, died last night. Mr. McClean joined the FWD sales staff in 1918 at Clintonville and was Wisconsin sales manager for many years previous to his transfer to California about 10 years ago. He was a member of the Masonic lodge.

Surviving are the widow and one son, William.

It Is Said--

That service station attendants seldom have trouble getting rid of rain oil. In the summer there is a constant demand for the oil which is used by many motorists in their driveways to lay the dust. In the winter there are calls for the old oil by motorists who have home-made oil burners in their garages.

That the spirit of neighborly friendliness most often associated with small towns can be found in Appleton if a person just looks about a bit. Over in the northern section of the city a woman was recently widowed, and with winter coming on she found it necessary either to build a garage or sell the family car. Several neighbors learned of her plight and have spent the last few Saturday afternoons and Sundays laying a concrete foundation and erecting the garage.

Badgers, Gophers To Have Pleasant Weather for Tilt

Fair and Warmer Is Bureau's Prediction for Saturday

The weatherman is apparently just as anxious as anyone else to see good playing conditions for the Wisconsin-Minnesota game tomorrow afternoon, for he collected his elements together today and made them promise to be on their best behavior.

The elements promised readily and so the Milwaukee bureau this morning issued a prediction of fair and warmer for tomorrow throughout the entire state.

There was nothing in today's weather to cause dissatisfaction. Blue skies and sunshine and a crisp breeze threw a fine fall atmosphere over Appleton and vicinity. At 1 o'clock this afternoon, the thermometer atop the Post-Crescent registered 40 degrees. For the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest mark in the city was 47 and the lowest 34, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant. Rainfall during that period measured .13 of an inch.

A wide variety of weather, including heavy rains in the Ohio river valley, prevailed throughout the Middle West today, the Associated Press reported.

Northwestern and west central portions enjoyed mostly fair weather, but it was cloudy elsewhere. Above normal temperatures ranging upwards from 60 degrees accompanied the rain, but the mercury was due to drop sharply with the cessation of the downpour in the Ohio valley late today and tonight.

Mrs. Ursula Rief, Weyauwega, Dies

Pioneer Resident Succumbs at Age of 91 Years

Weyauwega — Mrs. Ursula Rief, who celebrated her ninety-first birthday anniversary Nov. 9, died about 12 o'clock Thursday night at her home in Weyauwega. She was born in Germany and came to the vicinity of Weyauwega with her parents when she was 11 years old.

Surviving are two sons, Frank, Antigo; Henry, Marshfield; two daughters, Mrs. Tina Gerolds, Mrs. Libbie Peterson, Weyauwega; 14 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Reich Ambassador To U. S. Recalled Home for Report

sible mistreatment in concentration camps or other persecution. The president smiled but had no comment on the summoning home of Hans Dieckhoff, German ambassador to Washington, to report on the "queer attitude" of the president and other American authorities on domestic affairs in Germany.

As for the refugees here on temporary visitors' permits, Mr. Roosevelt said he would present the facts to congress and if congress took no action the refugees would be allowed to stay in this country.

He said he was inclined to grant further extensions at the expiration of the first six-months extension. The president added that the law did not limit the number of six-months extensions.

The president said he had no thought of proposing liberalization of existing immigration quotas to take care of additional refugees, but added he had not doubt congress would permit the refugees to remain here. The chief executive cited American action in permitting a number of Russians to remain in the United States after that country was taken over by the soviets.

Attorney General Cummings, meanwhile, compared anti-Semitic activities in Nazi Germany today to medieval tortures inflicted upon Christians many centuries ago.

"The recent happenings in Germany with reference to the persecutions of Jews has shocked the conscience of the world," Cummings said to a former statement.

"It shows what happens when sheer brute force takes the place of reason. It is a sordid picture and as uncivilized as the cruelties of 19 centuries ago when Christians were fed to wild beasts."

Secretary of State Hull disclosed, meanwhile, that he had asked Myron C. Taylor, former head of United States Steel corporation and first American delegate in the work to help refugees, to return to London to simulate assistance for the hundreds of thousands of German refugees needing new homes. Taylor, Hull said, plans to sail from this country Nov. 26.

Washington — William Green, president, called on the American Federation of Labor today to "redouble efforts" to make effective the federation's five-year-old boycott against German goods and service.

He asked this as evidence of the federation's opposition to the treatment of Jews in Germany.

Green sent a letter to all A. F. L. affiliates, saying the United States laboring man should make his resentment known, "in a vital and striking way."

"It is not enough to protest," he declared. "We must supplement protest with action."

Turkeys Eye Calendar And Take French Leave

Peoria, Ill. — The 223 bronze turkeys on the Finnegan brothers farm apparently took a peek at the calendar and saw a red letter day approaching.

The flock wandered off the 1,000-acre farm and caused some concern to the Finnegan brothers, who were planning a big Thanksgiving sale. Calls were put in to the Peoria police, the county police and, the state police.

The police roamed the tall timber near the Finnegan farm. Three miles from the turkeys' customary habitude they found the flock gobbling in greener pastures.

New President of Turkey Faces Job

Nazi and Mussolini Reported to Have Designs on Country

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Ankara — Turkey's new president, General Ismet Inonu, is facing perhaps the most difficult task of any of the world's leaders as he takes over office through the death of Kamal Ataturk.

Ataturk was a genius, a tremendous driving force, the idol of the masses.

When the end came he was in the midst of his revolutionary modernization of the country—an upheaval that called for the discarding of religious, political and social customs which had existed for centuries.

Beyond that the international situation as related to Turkey is delicate and vastly important. The great Nazi politico-economic drive to the east has reached this country. Many Turks also look fearfully towards Italy, feeling that Mussolini may have an idea of orientation in this direction.

All in all, the hand that takes the wheel relinquished by Ataturk, the lone worker, must be an iron one. This is particularly necessary since there are strong political cross currents which have been kept in control only by often ruthless force.

Turkish politics sometimes have taken violent trends in the past and many men have suffered for revolt against the powers that were.

General Ismet Inonu is credited with being the strongest man of the country. This is a designation which he will have ample opportunity to substantiate for he will encounter plenty of opposition if the political wisecracks are right.

See Less Serious 'Hopper Threat in State Next Year

Survey of Pests' Eggs Show What Control Measures are Needed

The grasshoppers will hop in Wisconsin next summer, but not so numerous as in the past, according to the egg survey recently completed by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture and Markets in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture.

The per cent of crops threatened ranges from 3 per cent in Shawano county to 50 per cent in Wood county. The areas of heaviest infestation are: Wood 50 per cent, Taylor 42 per cent, Pierce 39 per cent, Marathon and Price 38 per cent, St. Croix and Iron 37 per cent, Brown 36 per cent, Douglas and Bayfield 35 per cent, Polk and Ashland 33 per cent.

Grasshoppers are more severe in dry years, although northwestern Wisconsin suffered considerable damage this summer with normal rainfall, say state department entomologists, despite an extensive control campaign. As tabulated from county agent reports, 1938 crop losses were approximately $5,000,000, and the savings through control work amounted to more than $12,000,000.

Making the egg survey in the fall not only indicates grasshopper prospects for the following year but gives excellent indications as to the amount of money county boards should appropriate for the grasshopper fight. An actual count of eggs in the soil is taken by the department men in representative fields of every county in the state. To complete the survey a crew of three men worked over a period of six weeks.

Hog Cholera Reported On Increase in State

Bearing down in an effort to curb the most serious hog cholera situation that has confronted Wisconsin hog handlers in more than a decade, the state department of agriculture and markets has issued an amendment to its regulations, according to information received by R. C. Swanson, Outagamie county agricultural agent.

"All hogs sold through sales barns must be immunized against hog cholera before sale," declares Dr. V. S. Larson, state veterinarian. "This regulation will protect buyers of feeder hogs from purchasing animals that have been exposed and might later develop the disease."

Formerly it was only required that owners of public sale hogs make a statement that the pigs had not been exposed to cholera. For many years the state has demanded the immunization of all swine sold from public stockyards.

Since August, hog cholera has been on the increase not only in Wisconsin, but throughout the nation at large.

Embark on Program to Expand Sheep Flocks

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Sheep producers appeared this week to be embarked upon a program which will bring a moderate expansion in flock sizes and numbers during the next few years, according to A. E. Darlow of the state college of agriculture.

In Wisconsin and in other native sheep states, abundant supplies of fall pasture and feed grains will

Potato Production Is Up in State This Year

With more than 250 carloads available, the supply of certified potato seed for Wisconsin is greater than for several years, and the quality is exceptional, according to Elmer Peterson, state potato marketing specialist, in a bulletin received by R. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent.

The November estimate for total potato production as released by the state and federal crop reporting service shows that there were 18,900,000 bushels produced in Wisconsin this year, nearly a half million bushels more than a year ago, but considerably below the 10-year average of 23,923,000 bushels.

While the potato acreage of 247,000 in the Badger state for 1938 was 15 per cent below last year, the yield per acre increased from 75 to 80 bushels.

Peter Huss, Jr., Buys Mrs. E. J. Hanson Farm

Peter Huss, Jr., has purchased the farm of Mrs. Effie J. Hanson in the town of Kaukauna. In the business transaction Mrs. Hanson receives a house and part of a lot owned by Huss in the Second ward, Kaukauna. Huss will occupy the farm which consists of six acres and Mrs. Huss will reside in Kaukauna. The realty transfer has been filed with A. L. Collar, Outagamie county register of deeds. Other transfers filed are:

Eugene M. Wright to Clyde O. Davis, part of two lots in the First ward, Appleton.

Paul Noffke to Henry E. Breitenfeld, part of a lot in the Sixth ward, Appleton.

Henry E. Breitenfeld to Paul Noff, a lot in the Fifth ward, Appleton.

2 Churches to Observe Foreign Mission Day

Foreign mission day will be observed at both Greenville and Center Evangelical churches Sunday morning which will be celebrated also as centennial Sunday. The missionary society of the Evangelical church was organized 100 years ago.

The two churches are planning a union Thanksgiving service for 7:45 next Wednesday night at the Center church. The Rev. R. H. Spangler, pastor of First Baptist church, Appleton, will speak and the Greenville choir will sing. The offering will be taken for the American Red Cross.

A 3-act comedy, "Aunt Emma Sees It Through," will be given by Cedar Grove Parent Teacher's association at 8:15 this evening at the Silver Dome, Greenville. Miss Lucille Klutke is the director.

Official State Brand Proposed for Apples

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—An official Wisconsin state brand for Wisconsin apples was suggested this week by the Wisconsin Horticultural society as a promotion measure for Wisconsin orchardists.

Society officers pointed out that Wisconsin State Brand cheese will receive considerable advertising and that state honey producers also are considering the best grade of honey for sales under this brand.

Adoption of the brand by apple growers, it was said, "would follow the general idea being advanced by the state to increase the reputation of Wisconsin."

Low Consumer Prices are Cited As Cause for Poor Dairy Market

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison — Larger factory pay rolls appears to be the best way to increase the returns of Wisconsin farmers, and especially of Wisconsin dairy farmers, according to Don S. Anderson, economist of the staff of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

Anderson outlined the various programs of farm relief which have been attempted or advocated since the war, and pointed out that while none of these plans dealt directly with the problem of industrial activity, currently economists are urging that the best solution of the farm problem is a direct attack upon the problem of low consumer income and low industrial production.

Defending his contention that low consumer income is the most important cause of the presently low dairy prices, Anderson declared that thus far this year the production of dairy products has been at an unusually high level while the industries have been working at considerably less than capacity.

Import Less

"Reduced income of city consumers is much more important than imports of dairy products as a cause of low dairy prices, according to Prof. Anderson. "Wisconsin dairy farmers have received less for milk used for cheese this year than they did during 1937. Yet less than one million pounds of cheese was imported into the United States from Canada during the first six months of this year as compared with almost three million pounds during the first six months of last year and an average of 2 1/2 million

A BIG VALUE for your money

THE cost of telephone service is one of the smallest items in the household budget—yet telephone service is one of the biggest values.

Day after day your telephone brings you comfort, convenience and the security of knowing that at any hour of the day or night it is ready to carry your call for aid in case of emergency.

When you consider how much telephone service does for you and how little it costs, you will realize that it doesn't pay to try to do without it.

If you haven't a telephone, why not have one installed now? Just call our Business Office and say, "I want a telephone." We will arrange for it promptly.

Low Consumer Prices are Cited As Cause for Poor Dairy Market

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison — Larger factory pay rolls appears to be the best way to increase the returns of Wisconsin farmers, and especially of Wisconsin dairy farmers, according to Don S. Anderson, economist of the staff of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

Anderson outlined the various programs of farm relief which have been attempted or advocated since the war, and pointed out that while none of these plans dealt directly with the problem of industrial activity, currently economists are urging that the best solution of the farm problem is a direct attack upon the problem of low consumer income and low industrial production.

Defending his contention that low consumer income is the most important cause of the presently low dairy prices, Anderson declared that thus far this year the production of dairy products has been at an unusually high level while the industries have been working at considerably less than capacity.

Import Less

"Reduced income of city consumers is much more important than imports of dairy products as a cause of low dairy prices, according to Prof. Anderson. "Wisconsin dairy farmers have received less for milk used for cheese this year than they did during 1937. Yet less than one million pounds of cheese was imported into the United States from Canada during the first six months of this year as compared with almost three million pounds during the first six months of last year and an average of 2 1/2 million

Paper Product Plants Wisconsin Boasts 92

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison — There are 92 manufacturers of paper and paper products in Wisconsin today employing seven or more persons, according to the state department of commerce.

The department of commerce has just published an indexed list of all Wisconsin manufacturing concerns with seven or more employees, under the direction of William F. Ashe, director, and former Kaukauna paper mill executive.

Badgers Primed for Win Over Minnesota

Expect to Cop First Big Ten Grid Title in 26 Years

GOPHERS STRONG

Hold Victories Over
Purdue, Michigan
And Washington

MADISON—Only one day and one game away from its first Big Ten championship in 26 years, Coach Harry Stuhldreher and his courageous Badgers are determined that their hopes shall not be trampled under the scurrying hoofs of Minnesota's Thundering Herd. The teams clash at Camp Randall Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the final game of the season for both eleven.

Approximately 40,000 fans, all the stadium will accommodate, will witness the classic Madison game prepared today for the biggest "whoopie" in its history; prepared for the biggest celebration in its history; prepared—in short—for the battle of the giants between Gophers and Badgers in the forty-eighth renewal of the most time honored football rivalry in the Western United States.

Gophers Still Strong
All seats sold, hotel accommodations at a premium, railroads crowded for trackage accommodations, and the conference title in balance, combine to make this the most important football game for Wisconsin in a decade.

Wisconsin has come through a terrific schedule against seven of the best teams in the nation and has suffered but two defeats, one in and one out of the conference. The Badgers were outgunned by Pittsburgh on a day when the ball refused to roll the right way, and while still groggy from the Panther onslaught, tired in the second half to lose to Purdue by a single touchdown. Marquette, Iowa, Indiana, Northwestern and U.S.L.A. are numbered among the Badger victims.

Minnesota's grid power, apparently on the decline, was sufficient to drum out wins over Washington, Nebraska, Purdue, Michigan, and Iowa while losing to Northwestern and Notre Dame.

Nervous—But How?
A Wisconsin victory will gain the Badgers no worse than a share of the conference title and an undisputed crown should Michigan predict Ohio State as the experts predict.

In Thursday's practice Wisconsin went through its workout with an abundance of snap and precision. The boys were nervous, yes, but it's the kind of pre-game tension that Coach Stuhldreher likes to see—the kind that may explode with damaging force on Saturday and ride the Gophers all over the field.

There was no contact with sharpening of offensive assignments and smoothing of the shift being stressed. The varsity took a final look at Minnesota's single-wing offensive as portrayed by the freshmen and had little trouble in mastering their defensive shifts.

Two veterans were at the flanks on the first team and will probably open against Minnesota. Bob Weizandt, Oshkosh senior, whose smashing wing play was a feature of last year's Gopher clash, was at right end and Ralph Moeller, Watertown junior, was at left end.

Both boys are fast down field under punts, vicious tacklers and crashing defenders. Bob Eckl and Gene Brodhaugen will be at the tackles. Johnny O'Brien and Lynn Howland at the guards, and Jack Murray at center.

Three seniors will make their final appearance in the backfield. Led by Howie (Howitzer) Weiss, all-American fullback, Roy Bellin and Billy Schmitz at the halves, and Vince Gavre at quarterback, this quartet is expected to bear the burden in Saturday's clash. Weiss, Bellin and Gavre are seniors.

Boast Replacements
Bellin, whose punts have averaged better than 40 yards all season, will again handle the kicking duties with Bill Schmitz throwing the bulk of the passes which are expected to pepper the Gopher defense.

Sophomores and juniors will be called upon first for replacements. The second team lines up as follows: Gordy Gile, Ie; Al Dorsch, Ie; Bob Holloway, Ie; Johnny

Northeastern Conference Votes Against 10-Second Rule for its Cage Squads

BY BOB DESNOYERS
D EPERE—Attempts to amend the constitution of the Northeastern Wisconsin Inter-scholastic conference were successful in some cases, and not successful in other cases, at the fall meeting held last night in Union hotel.

There was no support for inauguration of the 10-second rule in basketball and, after a brief discussion, that amendment was passed over. The goal posts may be moved back to the line on football gridirons next fall if an investigation warrants such a Verifine Ice Cream pinsters continued to set the Grocers League pace during matches at Elks alleys last night when they won three games from Elm Tree Bakery on high team scores of 977 and 2,694 and increased their lead in the pin circuit. H. J. Bushman paced the squad with individual top scores of 244 and 572. Bushman has a 51-pin handicap.

F. Schneider, carrying a 2-pin handicap, rattled a 226 game to bolster the Verifine attack. E. Schabo topped the losers with a 219 game and 550 series.

Outagamie Mills collected three games from Cohen's Fruits as H. Grishaber topped a 224 game and 555 series. R. Krautkramer was high for the losers with a 559 series.

Win Odd Game
Liethen Grains won the odd game from Quality Biscuits as Bob Liethen thumped a 541 series. Welbes totaled 533 to top the losers.

Two games were credited to Puritan Bakery in a tilt with Wisconsin Distributing Co. C. Otto steamed a 222 game and 539 series for the victors while D. Piette showed 206 and 564 for the losing quint.

Spilker's Bakery downed Jelke's Good Luck in two games as H. Dachtel hammered a 221 game and 544 series. W. Becker slammed a 225 game and 562 series for the losers.

GOWDY SIGNS
Cincinnati—General Manager Warren C. Giles of the Cincinnati Reds announced today that Hank Gowdy had signed up again as coach for 1939 but his other coach, Eddie Roush, had resigned.

Two games were credited to Auto Body Works in a match with Valley Sports. F. Bendt was tops for the winners with a 542 series and 200 game while W. Loesselyoung had 205 and 503 for the losers.

Petersen Press copped the Odd game from Cahill Tailors with H. Baatz counting 471. J. Burton was high for the losers with a 215 game and his top series.

change. A motion to table the amendment until the spring meeting was carried, and in the meantime thought will be given to the proposal by the executive board and coaches.

Schools having adequately lighted gridirons were successful in having their amendment adopted. The amendment stipulated that such schools could require rival schools to play on Friday nights during the football season.

Harley Powell, Clintonville superintendent, sponsor of the amendment, spoke in its behalf. He argued that his school had doubled receipts at night games and said he considered the host school has a right to designate when a game shall be played in case the school provides an adequately lighted field.

A conference committee will determine if the illumination is adequate on the fields, which are only in the Western division of the conference. Representatives of all 13 schools voted in favor of the amendment.

A. J. Van Natta, Sturgeon Bay principal, spoke in favor of the measure. He said he thought the Eastern division schools should be fair to the Western division schools and the only ones vitally interested, and his remarks apparently brought the favorable vote of his Eastern division friends. The only question raised was what constitutes adequate lighting, and it was admitted that light might not

Freddie Apostoli, Young Corbett are Ready for the Bell

But They'll Fight in Semi-Privacy; Expect Less Than 10,000 FansBY GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK—(AP)—Having finished their training without the fracture of a single sacroiliac, Freddie Apostoli and Young Corbett 3rd clash at Madison Square Garden tonight for the "world middleweight championship," as it is understood by the New York state athletic commission.

Prospects will settle their argument in semi-privacy, with fewer than 10,000 scattered about the catch on. The fight has failed to catch on partly because the house has been scaled at championship prices and many fans do not think it is a bona fide championship fight.

The title for which Apostoli and Corbett fight is an ephemeral something, created by the state boxing commission. The other 160-pound title is held by Solly Krieger of Brooklyn, by virtue of his recent win over Al Hostak in Seattle.

Apostoli beat Solly twice, knocking him out the second time, before Solly "snuck" up on Hostak. In the opinion of impartial critics, Apostoli and Corbett are the two best middleweights in the world today, whatever the status of tonight's scrap.

Corbett, 33 and a southpaw, won a 10-round decision from Apostoli in San Francisco last February, much to the surprise of nearly everybody. The betting is 5 to 9 there will be a different result tonight, and the probability is that Apostoli will be declared the winner before the 15 rounds are up.

Apostoli, younger and the harder hitter, has learned something about fighting left-handers. The most popular guess is that he will halt Corbett in the last five rounds. It will be Corbett's first fight here in some 10 years. He lost a decision to Sammy Baker in his last appearance here, and he didn't like it.

"I'm sure I'll beat Apostoli again, and I think I'll be able to fight in the top flight for at least five more years," he says. "I've lived different, entirely from most fighters. Stayed out of pool rooms and never went around a gymnasium except when I was actually training."

Whether this exemplary conduct will get him past Apostoli this time is doubtful, for Freddie is loaded and determined to erase the one real blemish on his record.

Special Delivery nudged into the league lead with a 3-game triumph over General Delivery with R. Shortt pounding a 576 series and 222 game. W. Horn was the only General Delivery kegler in attendance and rolled 497.

Demerits downed Air Mail in two games as W. Grimmer steamed a 574 series and S. Balliet bagged a 207 game. A. Pirner was tops for the losers with a 203 game and 570 series.

Southpaw Kicker Has Perfect Booting Mark

He has booted four three-pointers from placement this season and has one more game to go. His longest kick was one from the 26-yard line in a night game with Denver University.

Soffe also has kicked six points after touchdown and missed only one.

Chaffin Chatter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

HOLDING in abeyance a dictionary amendment proposing to define football as a "game of chance," this guesser however misguided, hazards the following convictions as to this week's program:

Northwestern-Notre Dame: The temptation is strong to select this as the spot that marks Notre Dame's downfall. Northwestern can match the Irish in man-power, something no other rival has done, and has a habit of playing its best against South Bend outfits. But that's just whistling in the dark. Waiving immunity, Notre Dame.

Yale-Harvard: It's never safe to hold Yale lightly in an objective game but this ballot goes to Harvard.

Duke-North Carolina State: Can't see how Duke can lose this one.

Rice-Texas Christian: Unpredictable Rice may give the unbeaten conference running.

Wisconsin-Minnesota: Harry Stuhldreher's Badgers must have caught fire, judging by aggressive victories over Northwestern and U.C.L.A. with the Big Ten title in the bag for the winner, this should be one of the day's outstanding fights. One faltering vote for Wisconsin.

Pitt-Penn State: If Goldberg returns it probably will be a rout but with or without Goldberg, Pitt.

Princeton-Army: Hard to figure but Army gets the nod.

Ohio State-Michigan: Either can figure in the Big Ten title if Wisconsin and Minnesota tie Michigan has been the more consistent and rates an edge on that basis alone.

Iowa State-Oklahoma: The Cyclones are surprisingly tough but seem to lack undefeated and untied Oklahoma's all-around class. Oklahoma.

Auburn-Georgia: The Plainsmen seem finally to have mustered an attack. Auburn.

Fordham-South Carolina: The Rams look too strong. Fordham.

Columbia-Syracuse: No harder one to pick. Out of the hat, Syracuse.

Purdue-Indiana: The favorite seldom wins this one but Purdue must be the choice.

Chicago-Illinois: Illinois.

Iowa-Nebraska: Both well-bred and not much to choose. Nebraska.

Michigan State-Temple: Johnny Pingel ought to provide the winning margin for Michigan State.

St. Louis-Missouri: Missouri rates the nod.

Georgia Tech-Florida: Tech handsly.

Baylor-Southern Methodist: Ouch! From the bottom of an exceedingly deep hole, Southern Methodist.

Oregon-Washington: Close enough. Washington.

Arizona-Marquette: No real line but Arizona-Marquette.

Skipping over the chalklines otherwise: Citadel over Erskine; Villanova over Boston University; Tulane over Sewanee; Centenary over DePaul; Texas Tech over New Mexico; Brigham Young over Colorado State; Idaho over Utah State.

Scrimmaging With High School Quint

Little Chute — St. John High school capers have been getting in heavy drills the last week in preparation for the invasion of Kimberly "Red Devils" at Little Chute Friday night, Nov. 25.

For the past week the Little Chute A. A. squad has been furnishing tough competition for the Dutchmen who are improving rapidly and are expected to be in the pink for their opening tilt. Fourteen players are ready for the starting whistle and these will form the A and B squads. Competition is keen for all positions and Head Coach Ernie Miron is in the dark as to his starting lineup. Some of the new recruits are pushing last year's lettermen to the limit to hold their positions.

At forward, Mel VanAsten, Jim Koehn, Hal Derks and Jerry Hietpas are seeking a starting berth. At center, Vonnice Vanden Heuvel, Marvin Versteegen and Harold Vanden Heuvel are showing their wares and at guard, Woody McCabe, Frank Weyenberg, Gordy Lamers and Ernie Hammen are vying for the starting position. Appleton High to Hold Conference Relay Meet Here

Date Is May 20; Track Tournament Goes to Fond du Lac, June 2

THE Fox River Valley conference relay carnival will be held in Appleton Saturday afternoon, May 20, it was decided at a meeting of conference officials and coaches here yesterday.

The conference track and field meet will be held at Fond du Lac on the night of June 2. Green Bay East was awarded the conference golf tournament for May 27 and Manitowoc was awarded the conference tennis meet for May 20.

Officers of the conference elected at the meeting were A. O. Iversen, Sheboygan, president; E. D. Fruth, Fond du Lac, vice-president; and E. J. Schneider, Oshkosh, secretary. The next conference meeting will be held at Sheboygan Central on May 3.

The only other business was adoption of the conference football schedule:

It follows, the dates being Fridays. Appleton and Manitowoc are the only two schools which will play Saturday afternoons.

Sept. 22—Appleton at Green Bay West; Sheboygan Central at Oshkosh; Green Bay East at Sheboygan North; Manitowoc at Fond du Lac.

Sept. 29 — Appleton at Manitowoc; Fond du Lac at Central; Oshkosh at East.

Oct. 6—Central at Appleton; Fond du Lac at West; Oshkosh at North.

Oct. 13—East at Fond du Lac; Oshkosh at Manitowoc; North at West.

Oct. 20 — Fond du Lac at Appleton; North at Central; Manitowoc at East; West at Oshkosh.

Oct. 27—East at Appleton; West at Central; Oshkosh at Fond du Lac; North at Manitowoc.

Nov. 3—Appleton at North; Central at East; West at Manitowoc.

Nov. 11—Appleton at Oshkosh; Manitowoc at Central; North at Fond du Lac; East at West.

The visiting principals and coaches were taken on a tour of Appleton's new high school building and at noon were guests of the high school at a dinner.

Bob Zuppke Won't Retire as Coach at Illinois Just Yet

Champaign, Ill.—(AP)—Robert C. Zuppke knows when he will retire as University of Illinois football coach—and indicated today it won't be at the end of this season.

"I understand there are reports I am ready to sit down," the veteran mentor said, "but it is not time for a new coach at Illinois. I want to see this thing rebuilt so that the next man will have a chance. As soon as I sense the boys are not following me I'll say goodbye to Illinois. Illinois has been good to me for 26 years and I can take the means and criticism. Don't blame the boys, they've done the best they could."

Illinois' record this season has been five games lost and two won. There were reports also that Chicago and Illinois would sever gridiron relationship after next year's game at Illinois. The Illinois athletic department said today that Chicago is off the Illinois schedule for 1940 but will be back again in 19

Valley Sports Writers Decide Against Picking All-Conference Football Team

THERE'LL be no Fox River Valley conference all-conference football team picked by the sports writers this year. That was the decision of the scribes at a meeting last night at Manitowoc at which time the matter was taken over briefly because most of the scribes agreed, strange as it may seem.

The decision to pass up an all-conference selection was reached because it was felt there were too few outstanding gridgers this year, because the scribes admitted that when covering a game they watch the ball most of the time and therefore don't know enough about the work of linemen, especially visiting linemen, and because most of the coaches contacted indicated they felt it was an unnecessary evil.

The decision on all-conference football teams is not a precedent, it was pointed out. Nor does it affect basketball. In the first case it was felt that should some year bring several outstanding gridgers with all kinds of ability, the practice might be revived. As far as basketball goes, it was felt that picking five basketball players after seeing practically every team play twice, and with the pre-requisites of a good game being fought, ability to handle the ball and shoot, it was a much simpler job.

All of which means that Green Bay East in winning a championship this year was a team, not an individual player or two. It was pointed out that perhaps a half dozen boys in other schools would have looked as well if they had been on a co-ordinated team like East, and that several East boys might have been less than ordinary on another team.

DISCUSS CAUSE PROSPECTS

Basketball prospects for the year were reviewed and the title at all awarded Oshkosh. Appleton, Manitowoc and Fond du Lac have a flock of veterans while West Green Bay was a bit of an unknown quantity but likely to be tough. There were no reports from Sheboygan's two schools and Green Bay East was considered to be an outsider because it will be small and comparatively inexperienced.

A sketch of each school's possibilities follows:

Oshkosh—Bill Shadd, giant Negro center, and Erban, another tall lad will furnish the height. Bob Roth is a rugged guard, a second all-conference selection last year, while James, Stange, Bixby, Mosling and Greenkorn are other possibilities. James, Mosling and Greenkorn graduate in February while Shadd will be over age late in February. Jack Nussbaum again is the coach.

Fond du Lac—Eight lettermen will be available for Mike Calvano, new coach. Stan Goeres, Bill Bonnett, Ed Zoelle and Hubert Dieckvoss are forwards. Glen Wilderman is a tall center. Ken Wilderman, Chris Mathos and Clarence Messner are guards. Fond du Lac hasn't won a conference game in two seasons.

Appleton—Three lettermen are available in Bob Bailey and Bob Morris, guards, and Bill Jech, center. Joe Shields again handles the Terrors. Some rugged reserve talent last year is available in Ward correctly. This is one of the reasons so many press stress the importance of strengthening the hands by exercises. The shaft is not so apt to turn in the grip and ruin the accuracy of the blow. This applies not only through the backstroke, but also the downstroke when the shock of impact takes place.

At the point illustrated here the wrists are fully cocked, a quality they retain until the hitting area is reached about two-thirds of the way through the downstroke. A large measure of this preservation is possible only because the left hand pulls the clubhead down in orthodox style. If the right hand starts hitting from the top of the stroke the speed of the clubhead is dissipated before the impact point is reached.

admit that he's mighty glad Gage is on his team and that he has two more years to develop him.

Gage has made his mark in dropping kicking and punting this season, to add to his other grid accomplishments. The other day he showed up the rest of his teammates when he tore the tackling dummy loose from its moorings with a health tackle.

Another Green Bay product, also a sophomore, is Elmer Tornow, second string tackle who also gets the plaudits of the university's coaching staff. But as Stuldrer observed yesterday, Tornow had more ground to pick up than Gage. He wouldn't say whether Tornow would see action tomorrow.

Green Bay East—George Berg has three lettermen and will have to do a lot of building. Talent is generally small. George Forst is a forward, Don Josephs a forward or guard and Noel Olson a forward. Jim Gerhard looks good at center but lacks experience.

Gage, according to the "up-town coaches" has made an unprecedented showing as a sophomore. He has played in every game, and will perform again when the rampaging Badgers take on the mighty Minnesotans at Camp Randall tomorrow afternoon.

Because Vince Gave graduates this year, it is generally understood in these parts that Gage will be the leader of the squad next year. Stuldrer doesn't make predictions of that kind, but he does admit that he's mighty glad Gage is on his team and that he has two more years to develop him.

Gage has made his mark in dropping kicking and punting this season, to add to his other grid accomplishments. The other day he showed up the rest of his teammates when he tore the tackling dummy loose from its moorings with a health tackle.

Another Green Bay product, also a sophomore, is Elmer Tornow, second string tackle who also gets the plaudits of the university's coaching staff. But as Stuldrer observed yesterday, Tornow had more ground to pick up than Gage. He wouldn't say whether Tornow would see action tomorrow.

Scurrying for tickets for tomorrow's classic continued unabated today. Yesterday the university authorities hastily erected a section of new stands—37,000 ducats, a sell-out, had been disposed of earlier—but they were gone by mid-morning.

The Post-Crescent's Madison office has been getting its share of calls. Sadly it must report today that every seat is gone, and that there are serious doubts herabouts that there will be any standing room.

ADISON—A youngster who has come a long way since he tore up the turf in the Fox River Valley conference two years ago will perform in the Midwest's No. 1 football contest here Saturday afternoon between the Badgers of Wisconsin and the Gophers of Minnesota. Coach Stuldrer indicated today.

He is Fred Gage of Green Bay, who isn't old enough to vote yet, but he is one of the most important young men on the University of Wisconsin campus just now, and for whom local experts are forecasting a brilliant future as the quarterback of the Wisconsin varsity teams of 1939 and 1940.

Army Refused Frank Frisch Because He Had Weak Heart

BY SID FEDER

NEW YORK—(P)—You can win yourself plenty oughty day around this town betting when Notre Dame played its first football game in New York. . . . It was against Rutgers in '21. . . . And this corner was taken for a piece of change against that one (to be brutally frank) . . . The Irish won only 49-0. . . . Now that Jimmy Adamiak is off the active list, the good Doc Kearns is looking for another "white hope" heavy. . . . Got one up your sleeve? . . . Any team out to skin the Yankees might take a gander at Heber (Rock) Stroud, a third-baseman who showed plenty of class at South Carolina. . . . This department hears the Boston Red Sox have had an eye or two on him. . . .

It is generally known that Frankie Frisch was once turned down for the army because of a "weak heart?" . . . And all he's done since then is play 20 years of major league ball. . . . They're tossing between 100 and 200 G's into improvements for Tropical park before the Havana winter racing season opens. . . . Pitt goes for intercollegiate baseball for the first time next spring. . . . And Edgar Jones, a football halfback from Scranton, is rated as major league pitching material. . . . Nuff said. . . .

Ever since Gene Sarazen wrote that mag piece saying golf pros lose money around the circuit, the folks in the game are wondering what Ralph Guldahl, Denny Shute and Johnny Revolta used to build those new Florida homes. . . . Schoolboy stuff from here and there: Bob (Ding) Barry, Burlington (Wis.) halfback, only scored 130 points in six games. . . . Had 20 touchdowns and 10 extra points. . . . And twice knocked off six touchdowns in a game, most of 'em for 50 yards or better. . . . This corner still maintains those Pennsylvania coal regions produce the best football material in the country. . . .

Big Ten Gridders Work for Finals; Rumors are Flying

Report Chicago and University of Illinois Near Break

BY ARNOLD DERLITZKI CHICAGO —(AP)—The Western conference football season rockets to its finish tomorrow with complications as confusing as the 1938 title race careening in its wake.

As thousands awaited the Wisconsin-Minnesota and Ohio State-Michigan championship headlines along with the Northwestern-St. Paul feature, reports of strained coaching and athletic relations at Illinois and Chicago joined with the ouster issue at Iowa.

However, Chicago and Illinois quickly denied a "break" in football relations, and Bob Zuppke, Illini coach, remarked he didn't plan to resign after this season, nor after the next for that matter.

Meanwhile, the Wisconsin eleven, at full strength with the return of Lynn Howland at guard, was ready to shoot the works in its title bid against Minnesota while the Golden Gophers fretted over the speed they expected to encounter at Madison. Pass defense was the principal item on yesterday's Gopher workout.

Work on Blocking
At Columbus, Ohio State worked on blocking assignments and discussed final strategy for its Michigan engagement. Both teams can boast of swift backs although Michigan's line may have the edge on the Buckeye's heavier but slower forward wall.

Indiana continued to resort to passes in preparation for Purdue, but might not have the services of Joe Nicholson, sophomore passer de luxe, who was injured in the Wisconsin game. Purdue, the favorite in the forthcoming duel, still stood to share in the conference championship should Wisconsin and Minnesota tie and Michigan defeat Ohio State.

Passes filled the air at Chicago and at Northwestern. Each team devoted entire sessions to forward passing, Chicago strictly on offense as it drilled for Illinois. The Illini gave an impressive demonstration of forward pass defense. Northwestern combined defensive maneuvers in its practice for undefeated Notre Dame. Iowa also worked for a non-conference finale—the game with Nebraska.

Guest Day Is Held at Gathering of Guild

Clintonville—Guest day took place at a meeting of the Methodist Ladies Guild Thursday afternoon at the church parlors. During the business session, plans were discussed for a sale of Christmas novelties at the annual Christmas party to be held Dec. 15. A program followed, which included: a book review of "Horse and Buggy Doctor," an autobiography of Dr. Hertz, by Mrs. D. J. Rohrer; two cornet duets by Mae Patterson and Ellen Mae Martin; and a violin solo by Geneva Kuckuk with Marjorie Stieg playing the piano accompaniment. The afternoon closed with the serving of a luncheon by Mrs. Gilbert Felschow, Mrs. Clarence Barker, Mrs. Ward Winchester and Mrs. E. G. Donley.

Mrs. Kenneth Darling submitted to a major operation Thursday at a Green Bay hospital. The Thrift club held its November meeting Thursday afternoon at by pupils of the Lincoln school, New Holstein. The meeting closed with a question box and a discussion, conducted by county superintendent of schools F. J. Flanagan.

The business meeting followed, presided over by the president of the county organization, Otto Zander of Brill. Henry Veit was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the organization for a term of three years.

Marriage licenses were issued by County Clerk Roland Miller during the last week as follows: Raymond Loderbauer, Naomi Fairbach, both of the town of Harrison; Archie Baker and Henrietta Weiss, both of the city of Chilton; Wilbur Konz and Jane Hansen, both of the city of New Holstein.

Menasha — Sixteen members of St. Patrick parish will go to Green Bay Sunday to attend the diocese rally of the Catholic Youth organization. The rally will open with a high mass at 10 o'clock at the cathedral at which the Rt. Rev. Paul Peter Rhode, bishop of the diocese, will speak. A dinner will be held at noon at the Columbus club after which plans for the diocese C. Y. O. will be discussed. The Rev. Martin H. Vosbeck is the youth director for the diocese.

The group of young people who will attend include the Rev. Abner S. LaQue, Mildred Bobb, Elmer Bobb, Dorothy Caron, Josephine Porto, Thomas Ban, Alvin Kolanski, Nelson, Josephine Verbon, Naomi Backes, Frances Backes, Robert Backes, Dolores Haldermann, Betty Borenz and Rose Dowling.

Driver Cut When Car Hits Digging Machine

Menasha—Arthur West, 654 Manitowish street, suffered cuts about the face when a car he was driving struck a ditch digging machine at West street early this morning as West was coming south on Appleton road.

Although the machine was protected by a barricade and nine red lanterns, West drove straight through them smashing the barricade and a lantern, according to the police report. The front end of his car was damaged. The driver, which is owned by William Wendlandt, 1103 N. Lawe street, Appleton, is being used in the WPA sewer project.

Job Office Manager At Valley Conclave

Neenah — Harry D. Gates, Manager of the Neenah-Menasha office of the Wisconsin State Employment service, attended a meeting of Fox River Valley managers Thursday afternoon at Fond du Lac. Managers from Appleton, Oshkosh, Green Bay, Sheboygan, Manitowish and Oshkosh were present.

NEENAH - MENASHA GROUP MEETS WEEKLY TO STUDY BANKING METHODS

Menasha — A group of 12 men meets each Wednesday afternoon to study banking methods as part of an 8-year course of the Wisconsin chapter, American Institute of Banking. Shown above are members of the Neenah-Menasha class with their instructor and the Coapman trophy won last year. The trophy is awarded to the group in the state which has the highest average along with the best percentage of completed work. The class for the 1938-39 season started just recently and the Neenah-Menasha group will attempt to retain the trophy. Shown above, left to right, are John Walter, Instructor Ray J. Fink and A. F. Landig in the front row; David Jones, Ambrose Owen, Howard Hinterthuer and Vic Suess in the second row and N. E. Greenwood, M. C. Malchow, H. C. Kosloske, E. J. Schultheis and M. F. Ellinger in the back row. Gerald Lea of the Larson bank, also a member of the class, was absent at the time the picture was taken. The others are members of the staffs of Neenah and Menasha banks. Threat of Violence Between Mayor, City Attorney Breaks Up Menasha Council Session

Menasha — The threat of physical violence between Mayor W. H. Jensen and City Attorney Edward C. McKenzie broke up the special council meeting called by the mayor at the city hall Thursday night 10 minutes after it started.

The mayor had asked the attorney for answers to several questions. He charged that McKenzie was not doing his duty and said, "You're a rat."

McKenzie retorted, "I've seen better mayors too."

"What did you say?" the mayor asked, leaving the chair and towering over McKenzie. The attorney rose and repeated his remark at which the mayor said, "You'll not insult the mayor."

Cries of "Here, here" and "Stop that!" arose from the aldermen. C. J. Oberweiser looked around the council chamber for a policeman to restore order and some one called, "Move us adjourn."

Seven aldermen left the council chambers. They were C. J. Oberweiser, Reuben Tuchscherer, M. J. Grode, Edward Zeininger, John Eckrich, Earl Sauter and William Karrow.

Only Mayor W. H. Jensen, Aldermen John R. Scanlon, Walter O'Brien and Phillip Michalkiewicz, City Clerk Walter J. Dougherty and City Attorney McKenzie remained in their places.

Argue Over Purchases

The outbreak hinged back to the motion of Alderman Reuben Tuchscherer to purchase the sewer pipe and maple shoring for which the city had advertised from the Jeske Lumber and Coal company, the low bidder. That same motion caused the regular council meeting to break up Tuesday night after a stormy session.

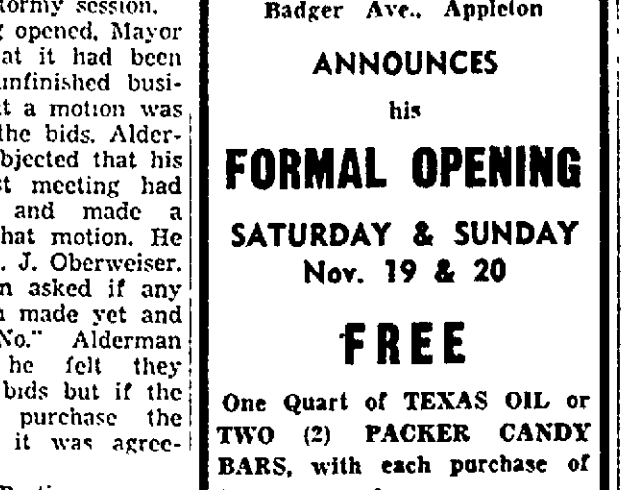

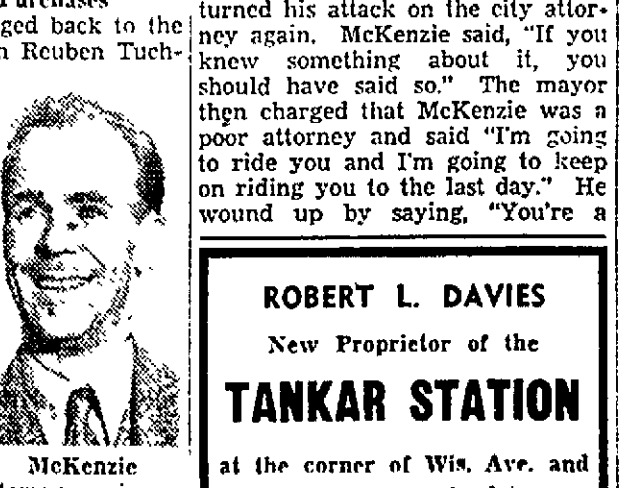

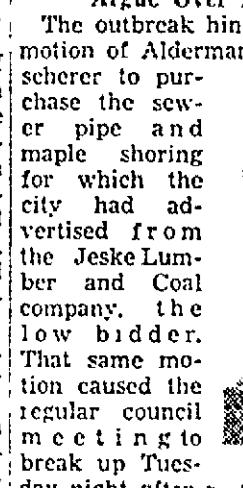

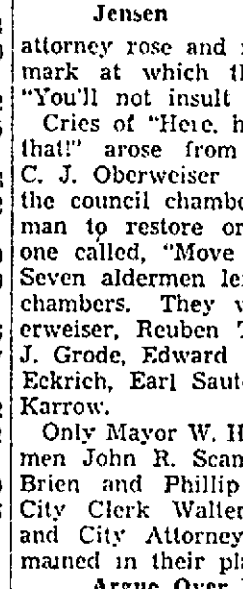

After the meeting session, Mayor Jensen declared that it had been called because of unfinished business and stated that a motion was in order to reject the bids. Alderman Tuchscherer objected that his motion at the last meeting had not been acted on and made a motion to renew that motion. He was seconded by C. J. Oberweiser.

Alderman Scanlon asked if any purchases had been made yet and the mayor said, "No." Alderman Karrow said that he felt they should act on the bids but if the mayor wanted to purchase the lumber after that it was agreeable with him.

No Beer Parties

"I don't throw any beer parties but I know who did last night. I don't play politics," the mayor declared. "Go through with it," he told the council, and "I'll show the public where I could have saved money." "Tell us how," requested Alderman John Eckrich. "I won't," the mayor replied. "I'm up here to run the city. Some one is going to put his foot in a trap tonight."

Only Alderman Scanlon voted against awarding the contract to Jeske when the roll was called.

Christmas Party Being Planned by Mill Association

Lakeview Group Will Sponsor Annual Event Dec. 24

Neenah—The Christmas party being planned by the Lakeview Mill Recreation association for Christmas eve is one of the major events sponsored by the association during the year.

J. H. Kimberly, chairman of the entertainment committee, and the twelve other directors are formulating plans for the annual party. The directors are Mr. Kimberly, Ed Laurin, Walter Frakes, Elmer Quayle, Clarence Moder, Dorothy Redlin, Ruth Schultz, Herbert Jewell, William Marquardt, Robert DeWilde, Carroll Rogers, Emil Power and Clyde Smith.

The mill picnic held in August is another of the association's annual events. Besides that the association sponsors bowling and tennis tournaments, and next summer a golf tournament will be staged. The association also sponsors softball teams during the summer.

The present association is an outgrowth of a small organization of the Kimberly-Clark corporation any beer parties. I'm not saying that you did but I know who did." Turning to the clerk, he asked if there was any other business and Mr. Dougherty replied that he had none.

"I instruct you to buy sufficient equipment to keep the project going," the mayor told the clerk. "I'll take the responsibility." He turned to the attorney several times during his instructions to the clerk and asked, "That's legal, isn't it?" McKenzie said that it was.

"I'll run the city if I have one alderman sitting there," the mayor declared and repeated his instructions to the clerk to buy the pipe and shoring as needed. "If the aldermen won't back that up, I'll pay for it myself. That will be legal, won't it?" McKenzie answered, "That will be perfectly O. K."

The remaining aldermen and city officials and the small group of spectators saluted the flag and the meeting adjourned. Immediately after the opening roll call the council had approved a bill of $450.69 to the Jeske company.

Neenah Students Crowd Library for Book Week Display

Neenah — Despite the fact that students are not permitted to attend twentieth annual national book week observance display at the Neenah library this week, Miss May Hart, librarian, reported that there has been an exceptionally large turn out of students who have visited the library upon their own initiative.

She said, "The students especially are eager to take out the 100 new books which have been purchased by the library and are now on display." The books will be circulated starting Saturday.

The library staff has arranged two displays in the children's department. One is the "Globe". Placed on the globe are favorite characters from children's books. The globe is attached to an old fashioned phonograph and revolves. The other display is a miniature circus parade with a toy elephant towing 18 diminutive circus wagons. Each wagon is loaded with small copies of popular children's books, each wagon holding a different type of book.

Neenah Library Will Remain Open at Noon

Neenah—Miss May Hart, librarian at the Neenah Public library, reported today that the library will remain open during the noon hours. The book dispensary will be open, starting Monday, from 9 o'clock in the morning until 6 in the evening and from 7 to 9 o'clock at night.

eight years ago to plan athletic and social events. The group grew so large that it was necessary to reorganize. Now the employees elect the directors of the association, and the directors elect the officers. Each department in the plant in Neenah is represented on the board.

New officers were elected at a meeting Monday. They are Herbert Jewell, president; Ruth Schultz, vice president; Elmer Quayle, secretary, and Clyde Smith, treasurer.

Trace of Lime on Shoe Gives Police Key to Burglaries

Believe Arrest of 5 Boys Solves Long Series Of Crimes

Menasha — A small quantity of lime provided the clue by which the series of burglaries in Neenah and Menasha, dating back to May 1, was solved, according to Police Chief Alex Slomski. A gang of five boys, ranging from 12 to 16 years of age, admitted the burglaries Thursday night after being questioned by Police Chief Slomski and Chief C. H. Watts and Viggo Sorensen, assistant chief, of the Neenah police department.

Four of the boys were taken to juvenile court in Oshkosh this morning where their trial was set for 9:30 Tuesday morning by Judge S. J. Luchsinger.

Wednesday night the gang broke into the Quality Welding shop, 292 River street, Menasha. One of the boys stepped into some lime. A number of boys whom the police had noticed loitering around were brought in for questioning and lime was found on the shoes and trouser leg of one. Further questioning resulted in the confessions last night.

Three candy and gum machines had been taken from the welding shop. The boys took them to the canal bank, broke them open to remove the contents and threw them into the canal, it was said. One machine was recovered by the police.

Find Loaded Revolvers

The police recovered some of the watches and jewelry stolen from Neenah and Menasha homes. Other loot had been thrown into the river, they said. The loot was found in the basement of one of the boys' homes along with two loaded revolvers. Three of the boys also admitted breaking into two stores at Kaukauna at 6:30 last Friday night, Armistice day. They took $5 in one place and $3.50 in another. They said that they carried a loaded revolver in that expedition. Both revolvers had been stolen from Menasha homes.

The confessions of the youths clear up nearly every house burglary in Neenah and Menasha since May 1, police believe. In Menasha more than 15 burglaries were admitted involving several hundred dollars in cash and jewelry. The watches and jewelry recovered by the police were valued at more than $100. Police Chief Slomski requested those persons who lost jewelry in burglaries to come to the police station to identify their belongings.

The boys admitted breaking into four places in Neenah last Monday night, Klinkie Grocery, Harrington Shoe shop, People's Fruit and Vegetable Market and Johnson Bros. Grocery, all on Wisconsin avenue. They secured only 15 cents and some candy and gum in those raids. They also admitted entering the Twin City School Supply company and the Mueller Ice Cream company in Neenah. The four boys regularly in the gang were taken to Oshkosh while the fifth, who participated only in the Kaukauna raid, may be turned over to Kaukauna police, Mr. Slomski said.

Twin City Deaths

ORRIN BRADLEY JOHNSON

Menasha — Orrin Bradley Johnson, 69, died at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at his home, 326 Nicolet boulevard, after being ill for several years. He was born May 29, 1869, in the town of Summit, Waushara county. At the age of 14 he moved to Seymour with his parents and a year later they moved to Appleton. He lived there until 1927 when he came to Menasha.

Survivors are the widow; two sons Norman and Alton Johnson of Milwaukee; two brothers, Emory Johnson of Appleton and Jewett Johnson of White Lake, Wis., and four grandchildren.

Because the Pelton Funeral home is being renovated, funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Laemmerich Funeral home. The Rev. W. A. Jacobs, pastor of the First Congregational church, will conduct the services. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery. The body will be at the Laemmerich Funeral home from this afternoon to the hour of the funeral.

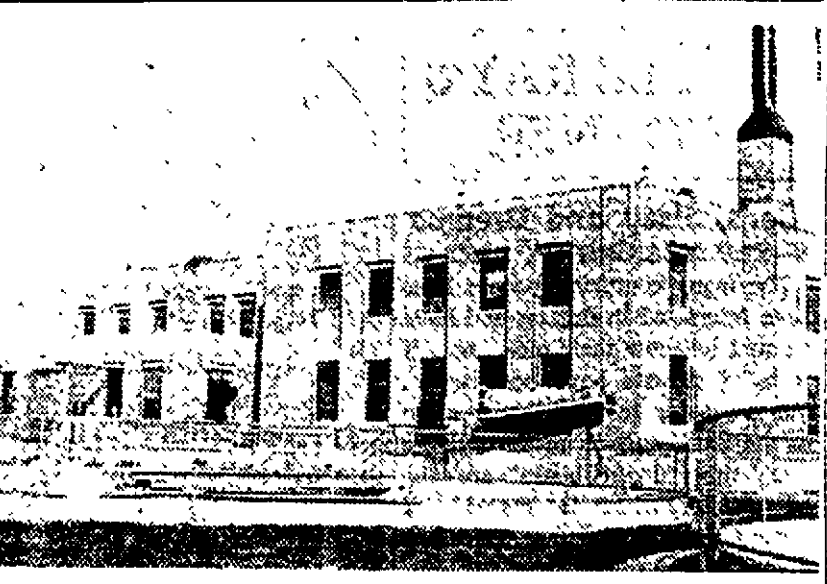

SCHOLL FUNERAL

Menasha — Funeral services for Miss Eleanor Scholl, 700 Racine street, who died Sunday night at Fond du Lac, were held Wednesday morning at the Laemmerich Funeral home and at St. Mary Catholic church. The Right Rev. Mgr. John Hummel conducted the services. Burial was in the parish cemetery. Bearers were Harry Jones of Neenah, Dick Dugan and Glenn Carroll of Appleton, Ray Schrage, Eddie Frieders and Dan Pozolansky of Menasha.

Miss Scholl was for 15 years secretary to the late L. L. Olstead at the Combined Locks Paper company of Appleton. Those from out of town who attended the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Scholl and sons Edward and Elmer of Chicago; Mrs. Henry Muehlen and son of Franklin Park, Ill.; Mrs. R. Kuehl of Libertyville, Ill.; Mrs. Paul Bailey, Mrs. James Ramage and Mrs. William Grau of Racine; Mr. and Mrs. William Ramage of Fond du Lac; Mrs. William Moore, Mrs. Thomas Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Langacker of North Fond du Lac; Miss Anna Schrank of Madison, Edward Schrank of Oshkosh and Mrs. R. Zimmerman of Rice Lake, Wis.

CONSIDER APPLICATIONS

Neenah — Applications for the job of janitor of the new First Methodist Episcopal church were considered at a meeting of the official board Wednesday night. Plans for the dedication were made. No definite day for the dedication was set, but it is expected that it will be held early in January, depending upon the time that construction will be completed.

SEWAGE PLANT HAS 2 IMPROVEMENTS

Menasha—Open house will be held Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday at the Neenah-Menasha sewage disposal plant, shown above. The plant was placed in operation in September, 1937. Two additions recently have been completed, the smokestack shown in the right at the top of the building and the dustless ash unloader which is attached to the wall of the building at the southwest corner. Shown in the foreground are the two settling tanks. An extra 60 feet was added to the smokestack, making it 104 feet high. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Neenah-Menasha Sewage Plant To Hold Weekend Open House

Menasha — Citizens of Neenah and Menasha will have an opportunity to inspect the Neenah-Menasha sewage disposal plant at an "open house" this weekend. The plant will be open for inspection Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday. A booklet explaining the operation of the plant has been prepared for presentation to visitors. All of the machines and departments in the plant will be labeled with signs and numbers so that visitors may follow the signs and the booklet in order to understand how the plant operates.

Three major construction programs were included in the entire project, according to J. M. Holderby, plant superintendent. They were the laying of intercepting sewers into which the existing collection system would discharge and lead to the plant site; construction of a combination pumping station and treatment plant and construction of storm and sanitary sewers to the storm water separation in both cities.

The project was financed by a 45 per cent grant from the Public Works administration. The final cost will be approximately $950,000. Sewage was first admitted for treatment in September, 1937, and the plant has been in continuous operation since.

Big Interceptors

The intercepting sewers along the shores of Little Lake Butte des Morts and the two channels of the Fox river have been designed to handle a waste flow of 35 million gallons daily, approximately five times the present normal flow. The interceptors allow for considerable future growth and industrial expansion. A stop gate can prevent flow of sewage into the plant in case of which the sewage will spill into the river through two overflow structures.

To meet the varying seasonal needs of the river and to keep the plant cost at a minimum, the Neenah-Menasha plant is of the sedimentation type with provision for chemical treatment when the river flow is low. The plant is designed to handle the domestic sewage of 25,000 people, estimated at 2.8 million gallons per day and 6.2 million gallons of industrial sewage.

There is an excess capacity of two million gallons per day to take care of future expansion of population and industries. The mechanically-raked bar screen, pump station, grit chamber where sand, gravel and other inorganic particles are removed and main sewage conduits are designed for the full capacity of the intercepting sewer or 35 million gallons per day. The screen prevents damage to the plant machinery and all solids are ground up before they are treated.

Dam Permits By-pass

Following the grit tank is a weir or dam which is set to permit flows in excess of 10 million gallons daily to by-pass into the outfall sewer direct to prevent damage to the plant from excessive storm flows. Five machines feed dry and dissolved chemicals to the sewage. They are used only when the river flow is low and a higher degree of treatment is necessary than can be obtained from plain sedimentation. According to the records for 36 years, such treatment would have been necessary only twice in the past.

Chemical treatment of the sewage increases the degree of purification by causing the small solid particles to clot together to form large, easily settleable particles. In addition the sewage is subjected to a rapid mix followed by a gentle stirring. This is done in the flocculator tank at the south of the main building which is 64 by 31 feet and 13 feet deep.

The actual purification of the sewage consists of separating the solids from the liquid portion. This is accomplished in the two settling tanks, each 75 feet in diameter with an average water depth of 11 feet. The sewage is retained for 1.6 hours during which the solids settle to the bottom as sludge and the liquid drains off the top. From 90 to 99 per cent of the solids settle to the bottom. The sludge is scraped off the bottom and pumped back to the main building for treatment.

Sludge Conditions

The liquid flows back into the river. Feeding machines can add chlorine to the liquid when disinfection is necessary. The first steps in the treatment are to produce a sludge. The next steps are designed to dispose of the sludge in an offensive manner. The sludge is concentrated in two storage tanks. They have a capacity of 150,250 gallons each.

The sludge is conditioned in another tank and then passes to the vacuum sludge filter where it is converted into 35 per cent solid sludge cake. The filters will produce 2.5 tons of sludge cake per hour. The sludge cake is broken up by a mixer and a flash dryer, using hot gases from the incinerator, dries the sludge. Vapors from the drying process are deodorized

4 Menasha Debaters to Attend Madison Clinic

Menasha — Four debaters, members of the "A" team at Menasha High school, left Menasha at 6 o'clock this morning to attend a two-day debate conference and clinic at Madison which is sponsored by the University of Wisconsin. They were accompanied by their coach, Miss Sigrid Paulson. Members of the Menasha High affirmative team are Katherine Dexter and Joyce Scanlon while the negative members are William Spengler and Richard Steffens.

While at Madison the debaters will attend the speech institute where debaters are criticized and constructed speeches are refuted; will debate against two Wisconsin High school teams; will hear debates between Wisconsin and Northwestern university teams; will attend the Wisconsin-Minnesota football game; and will attend lectures in which Robert DesJarlais, a graduate of Menasha High school, will preside. They also will attend a dinner for the debaters at the Memorial Union. In addition Richard Steffens will attend an oratory meet for all high school student orators in which speeches will be given and criticized.

Camera Club to Meet At Menasha Library

Neenah—The Winnebago Camera club will hold its regular meeting at 7:30 Tuesday evening, Nov. 22, in the basement of the Menasha library. Plans will be made for an informal meeting to be held in James Kimberly's boathouse either Nov. 28 or 29.

Prints of pictures taken at the last meeting will be studied and criticized at Tuesday night's session. At the last meeting, the photographers took pictures of models

Two Permits Granted For New Neenah Homes

Neenah — Permits for building two new homes were granted this morning, one to W. J. Schmitzer, 406 Eleventh street, at a cost of $4,000, and the other to Henry Rohe, McKinley street, at a cost of $1,400. The Schmitzer dwelling will be of frame construction and 14 stories in height. It will be 24 by 30 feet with a gable roof and concrete basement, while the Rohe home will be one story with no basement. It will be built on piers and it will be 24 by 28 feet. It will have a gable roof.

Another permit was issued this morning to Paul Kalfas for remodeling a home at 403 Clark street at a cost of $1,000. The permits were granted by John Blenker, assistant city building inspector.

Menasha Officials See Bicycle Safety Movies

Menasha — Four Menasha men, members of the police and fire departments, attended the preview of "Handlebar Hazards" at Appleton Thursday night. They were policemen George Resch, William Godhardt and Joseph Ulrich and Fireman Arthur Gutzman.

Colored motion pictures, "Handlebar Hazards", filmed by R. L. Swanson, were shown with a narrative by Sergeant Carl Radtke. Gutzman stated today that the Menasha men present spoke with Mayor Goodland and Chief Prim and will make arrangements to show the pictures in the schools of Menasha in the interests of safety.

Kennel Club Plans Pup Show During Meeting at Neenah

C. J. Miller Named Chairman of Event to be Staged in February

Neenah—Plans for a puppy show to be held here in February were made at a meeting of the Northeastern Wisconsin Kennel club last night in the community rooms of the National Manufacturers bank building, according to Otis Hayes, Neenah, club secretary.

Neenah was selected as the tentative place to hold the show but no definite date was selected. It will be in February, however. The show, it was decided, will be open to members of the club only. Puppies from 2 to 12 months will be admitted and classes will be entered down to the best of show. C. J. Miller, Neenah, was appointed chairman of the committee in charge of the show. The event will be staged according to the regular rules and procedure of dog shows.

55 Persons Attend

Fifty-five persons from Neenah, Menasha, Manitowish, Oshkosh, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Appleton, and Green Bay attended the meeting.

H. J. Hinkle, Milwaukee veterinarian, talked to the club members on common dog diseases, pointing out the various causes and remedies. He outlined the work done in his hospital, especially with the violet ray and X-ray.

Seven persons from Neenah and Menasha joined the club last night. They were Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Jensen, Herbert Hafeman and Miss Sylvia Roudeshush, Menasha, and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hewitt, Jr., and Gordon Parker, Neenah.

Preliminary plans for forming a midwest circuit of dog shows were discussed. The purpose of forming the circuit, it was pointed out, is to hold dog shows within a close period of time in order to attract more entries.

The club's next meeting will be Wednesday evening, Dec. 14, in the community rooms of the bank building in Neenah.

Contracts Awarded by School Board Subject To PWA Approval

Neenah — Four contracts for the construction of the 2-room addition to McKinley school at a cost of $27,341 were let at a meeting of the board of education Thursday afternoon at the high school. The contracts, however, are subject to the approval of the public works administration.

The general work contract was awarded to the Steiner Construction company, Appleton, which submitted a low bid of $20,885. Seven bids were submitted for the general contract.

Wenzel Brothers, Inc., Appleton, was awarded the contract for the plumbing and sewerage work at a cost of $1,083. There were eight bids submitted for this job but four were declared "no bids."

A. H. Angermeyer, Neenah, was awarded the heating and ventilating contract at a cost of $3,719 and nine bids were submitted of which four were declared "no bids." The Witte Electric company, Neenah, was awarded the electrical work contract at a cost of $1,654. There were only four bids turned in of which one was declared a "no bid."

Other Bids

Other bids opened yesterday followed: General work, F. G. Bartelt, St. Cloud, $23,239; Esther M. Nielsen, Neenah, $23,424; Hoffman Construction company, Appleton, $26,379; Fluor Brothers, Oshkosh, $22,922; Ben B. Ganther, Oshkosh, $22,208, and Baker Construction company, Green Bay, $25,818. Plumbing and sewerage work, Stoehr and Laudon, Milwaukee, no bid; Downey Heating company, Milwaukee, no bid; J. A. Engel Heating company, Appleton, no bid; A. H. Angermeyer, Neenah, $1,270; F. T. Haertl, Neenah, $1,200; Silvis Hardware and Plumbing company, Sheboygan, no bid; Reinhard Wenzel company, Appleton, $3,783, and Charles Evans, Neenah, no bid.

Electrical Work

Electrical work, Langstadt Electric company, Appleton, $1,731; Ruhland Electric company, Richfield, no bid; Keil-Werner Electric company, Neenah, $3,076.

With the exception of the bids for the electrical work, the bids for the other three jobs were comparatively close.

The estimated cost of the job was $30,000. Added to the total cost of the three contracts will be equipment for the two rooms and architect fees. The PWA grant is $13,500, and the city's share is $16,500.

100 Attend Round-Up Of DeMolay Members

Neenah — More than 100 persons attended the fifth annual round-up of Winnebago chapter, Order of DeMolay, Wednesday night at the Neenah Masonic temple. The guests included active members and past members.

Coach N. A. Calder of Menasha High school and Coach George Christoph of Neenah High school gave brief talks in which they told jokes on each other. Christoph also commented on psychology in athletics. Other entertainment was furnished by Don Purday, Appleton, magician, and Cecile Newbecker, Appleton piano artist. Hugh Sutton was the toastmaster.

Beds, Sleep and Dreams
V—THE MEANING OF DREAMS
For many centuries, people have been interested in dreams and have wanted to know their meaning. All sorts of guesses have been made, but we seem to have come close to the truth only in modern times. Old-time "dream books" are filled with lore about the meaning of certain kinds of dreams. Here are a few of the things they say, but which I don't guarantee!
"If you dream of an anchor, it means travel. To dream of eating bread means an accident. If a man dreams he has a long beard, he will have good health."
"Birds in a dream mean good fortune, and a brightly-burning candle means happiness. To eat cheese in a dream means you are going to make money." And so on, and so on!
I might give other odd ideas but let it be enough to add that there are hundreds of old-time sayings about what dreams mean. Scientists say those old sayings aren't true.
More than 50 years ago, Dr. Sigmund Freud began careful studies of the mind in action. He worked to find facts, not fancies. Freud gave special study to dreams. He asked hundreds of his patients in Vienna and Paris what they had dreamed, and then tried to figure the true meaning of the dreams.
Many of Freud's patients were deeply worried and some were on the borderline of going insane. The doctor found ways to help them, and in certain cases met with great success.
At the same time, other physicians and scientists worked on problems of the same kind. These others included Carl Jung of Switzerland and Alfred Adler of Austria.
We cannot in a few words tell much of what those men came to believe about dreams, but this is perhaps the main point they have made: "Dreams express the wishes of people, also their fears."
Modern scientists may have helped to find the true meaning of most dreams, but they have done little to explain the so-called "prophetic dream." Cases are known of people who dreamed about things before they happened. This may have been by accident, or the mind during sleep may clearly work out what was likely to happen.
Some persons do not need an alarm clock to awaken at a certain time in the morning. On going to bed they may say to themselves, "I want to wake up at a quarter past seven," and in the morning open their eyes at just that time.

Its People and Products

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood — Settin' Around (Warner Brothers): This is one studio that has the intestinal fortitude, vision or whatever it takes to produce propaganda pictures. About fifty percent of the recent and current Warner Brothers product is themed on the glories of Americanism and democracy. "Juarez," now shooting, is a peppy challenge to the theory of dictatorships. "The Life of Emile Zola" flayed militarism and preached freedom of speech and press. "Black Legion" condemned such un-American movements as the Klan. The series of patriotic shorts now in production here — "The Declaration of Independence," "The Man Without a Country," "The Louisiana Purchase," and "Lincoln in the White House" — are all display ads for American ideals. Incidentally, they are also artistic gems.

Personally, I'm cheering. The absolutist countries of Europe have been using movies for propaganda for their pet isms, and while banishing from their screens the few American-made pictures which have sociological import, they have used every ruse to insure American showings for their own films. It's high time for a few more American movie-makers to awake to the fact that pictures are more than "young romance" entertainment — that they are universal text books in philosophy. Pictures such as this studio is now turning out can prove to audiences everywhere that what's sauce for the Germans, Italians, Russians, et al is a lot of applause for Americans.

Chatter About Warner Brothers Idols: Bette Davis never dons a dress until they're ready for a "Take"—says she can rehearse better in a house-coat or a smock. Humphrey Bogart loses that menacing look when his hair is rumpled. Look alike: Frisella Lane, pouting, and Miriam Hopkins — and what a startling resemblance between Rosell Towne, here, and Loretta Young of Twentieth Century. Zazu Pitts looks like everybody's maiden aunt. Maybe the informal days are over in Hollywood; Warner's male stars have been ordered to forego sweatshirts. Great-actor Paul Muni, with his inevitable brief case, always reminds me of a neekle salesman. Gale Page is being streamlined — and, Oh Boy! Jeffery Lynn has that certain something that guarantees B.O. and I do mean box-office.

Chatted with Bette Davis in the trailer-dressing room that she starts around from set to set — and noticed one revealing thing. Inset in one end of the trailer is a huge mirror and pasted across the top of the mirror is a big strip of paper. On the paper, in hand-printed letters, is this quotation from Elbert Hubbard: "I'm an old man and I've had a lot of trouble—but none of them ever happened!"

Stopped in one of the studio's portrait galleries today and found the photo shooting Christmas against a wintry backdrop. In the foreground, banked with canned snow, was the tree, a-blaze with tinsel and lights, and on the sidelines, waiting their turn to pose, were several of the studio's stock girls. But somehow I lost my holiday feeling when I noticed that two of them were sitting in canvas set chairs, one labelled "Billy," the other "Bobby." I wonder how many of you remember Billy and

Rudolph Ising (left) and Hugh Harman, cartoon makers for 14 years, have recently been signed to produce their fantasies for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. In the past, Harman and Ising have turned out such noted cartoons as "Wayward Pups," "Good Little Monkeys," "The Lost Chick," which won the Brussels International Festival Award, and the Academy Award winner, "The Old Mill Pond."

Bobby? Just a year ago, they were shining as brilliantly as the ornaments on the Christmas tree. But today, the Mauch Twins are among the missing. From one Christmas to another is a long, long time — in Hollywood!

Watched the shooting of added scenes for "Blackwell's Island," with John Garfield and Stanley Fields trading dialogue. Suddenly one of the two Great Dane dogs in the scene yawned — loudly and long — and the sound mixer promptly buzzed four times, announcing that the scene was spoiled. Garfield shrugged, nodded to me and then indicated the dog. "I've known some critics," he said dryly, "who were more verbose—but none more emphatic."

In the studio cafe, Olivia De Havilland told me a story of sweet revenge. Seems that Dead-Ender Huntz Hall had been "getting her goat" by bumping her car whenever he parked his on the studio lot — and then laughing at her worry and wrath. Yesterday, Olivia went into a huddle with the casting office — and Huntz received a call to make a test in a Little Lord Fauntleroy costume. When he stepped out of his dressing room, Olivia had a battery of photographers waiting for him. Today, he

Three-Act Comedy Is Staged at Charlesburg

Chilton — "Just Country Folks," a three-act comedy by Edward MacArthur was presented Sunday and Wednesday evenings by the Newman Dramatic club at Kuehner's hall at Charlesburg. This was the thirteenth production of the club which is under the direction of the Rev. Leo Binder, pastor of St. Charles church of Charlesburg.

Following is the cast of characters: Ezekiah Hutchins, chief of police, Leo Meyers; Harry Burgess, a visitor, Roland Daun; Mary Young, a school teacher, Loretta Schneider; Simon Tutthill, the town Shylock, Luke Schneider; Abner Watkins, the oldest citizen, John Kern; Charles Porter, a confidence man, Elroy Steiner; Miranda Dodge, Seth's widowed sister, Asella Steiner; Bertha Hammond, confidence woman, Louise Kern; Seth Hemingway, the postmaster, Bernard Gebhart; and Abby Holmes, another widow, Romilla Meyers.

Both performances were well attended and music was given by

RACE MYSTERY
Honolulu, T. H. — (P) — Dr. Laura Thompson, young research associate at the University of Hawaii, has embarked on Guam to spend six months in trying to unravel the mystery of the old Chamorro race which Magellan found on the island.

Among the archaeological remains she will investigate are two rows of ancient stone slabs that long have puzzled scientists.

Recall of Nazi Envoy Disturbs New York Stocks

Nervousness Over International Affairs Weakens Shares

Compiled by the Associated Press

Stocks took a beating in today's market with steel, motors and recently strong leaders dropping fractions to more than three points. Transfers approximated 1,500,000 shares.

Specific reasons for the set-back were scarce, although some quarters thought nervousness over international affairs was revived by Germany's recall of her ambassador to Washington, duplicating the step taken by the United States in ordering Ambassador Wilson home from Berlin for "consultation."

Again, many traders cashed profits on the lengthy upswing because of the feeling that the "correction" which started the forepart of this week may have yet some distance to go.

The New Anglo-American and Canadian trade treaties generally were termed constructive in Wall street, although there were a few dissenters who believed the British got the best of the deal. Business news, on the whole, was more favorable than otherwise.

In the curb Long Island livehogs preferred stocks were exceptionally weak on the omission of dividends on these issues.

Bonds inclined to give ground, as did commodities. Wheat at Chicago was off 1/2 to 3/4 of a cent a bushel and corn down to 1/4. Cotton, in late transactions, was 5 to 15 cents a bale in arrears. Foreign markets were mixed, Sterling, near mid-afternoon, was 1/4 of a cent lower at $4.70; the French franc .003 of a cent easier at 2.63 cents.

Today's Market At a Glance

New York—(U)—Stocks heavy; steel and motors lead decline. Bonds easier; rails lead off. Curb lower; industrials give ground. Foreign exchange down; sterling and franc dip. Cotton lower, December liquidation; southern selling. Sugar improved; bullish consumption figures. Coffee declined; trade selling. Chicago—Wheat lower; sympathy with stocks. Corn weak; influenced by wheat. Hogs steady to 10 lower.

Tax Officials to Meet Next Week

Wisconsin Will be Represented at Regional Conference

Chicago—(U)—Legislators and tax officials of 11 states will meet here Monday and Tuesday to study proposed cooperative legislation to reduce tax evasion and halt interstate migration of industry for the purpose of obtaining tax benefits.

The council of state governments is sponsoring the regional assembly of representatives from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kentucky, Missouri, Minnesota, Tennessee and West Virginia.

Conferees will attempt to draft a program which would substitute uniform assessment and tax collection practices for the present varying regulations of most states. The program would include establishment of a uniform data for assessing property for taxation, a standard practice in assessing merchandise in storage and uniform regulations for assessment of property on which federal taxes previously have been paid.

It is not our purpose to change the political philosophy of taxation of the several states," Herbert L. Mount, Wisconsin tax commissioner said, "or the tax policy of those states."

Mount said wide variations in state tax laws and practices led to conflicts which invite evasion rather than payment of taxes by the taxpayer, and such evasion made taxation on other forms of taxable property more burdensome.

Bankers' Association For Balanced Budget

Houston, Texas—(U)—The American Bankers' association asked today that the federal budget be balanced. The association closed its annual convention last night after adopting resolutions calling for a balanced budget and elimination of overlapping taxes by state, federal and municipal governments. It opposed the banking when it crosses state lines.

Good Securities Scarce as Prices Continue to Rise

Babson Says Demand Exceeds Supply of Choice Issues

BY ROGER BABSON
Chicago — Business continues to roll on toward prosperity. It is now only 11 per cent under normal compared with 23 per cent below last June! This is one of the most sensational recoveries in history and the end of the rise is not yet in sight. Meanwhile, security prices have run up even faster than business. Hence, the question in every investor's mind today is: What should I do about my securities?

In answering that question let me emphasize that no one can tell you whether the market is going up or down next week. Most of those who attempt to do so and who "play" the short swings eventually end up in the poor house. They can lose their money more pleasantly at the race track while having the fun of watching the horses run. Hence, I do not want anyone to interpret this article as a forecast of what the market will do immediately.

Business Outlook Good
Thirty-five years of experience in analyzing the business cycle have taught me one vital lesson: Security prices depend first on the business outlook and second on the supply and demand for securities. Certainly, my investigations have proved that the business outlook does not depend on security prices! Hence, because I believe that business will continue to rise, I feel that carefully selected stocks and bonds of sound, progressive companies are still attractive. Not only can business break through the all-time highs of 1929, but there are some other vital considerations.

The net result of certain of these basic factors is to create a shortage of good securities:

(1) Many investment channels, which formerly were attractive, have been narrowed or virtually closed under new legislative setups. A good example of this is the mortgage paper field. Only a few years ago conservative investors could always buy good mortgages to yield a 6 per cent return. The Home Loan first and then the F. H. A. killed this class of investment. Utilities are another example—they are still unattractive to many investors because of political sabre rattling.

Pension Funds Growing
(2) The Social Security program of the government, plus pension policies of individual companies, call for big reserve funds. These reserves must be invested. So far, government securities have been getting the call for this purpose. Sooner or later, however, the demand from this source will spill over into corporate securities.

(3) Bond investors are having a hard job to pick up good new issues. Many a company needing capital is selling its new securities directly to insurance companies. This practice provides a detour around some of the government's restrictions and requirements for capital offerings. Moreover, I believe that the direct sales of new securities to institutional investors will increase rather than diminish.

(4) Banks may also buy direct. A group of banks, hungry for a chance to make two or three per cent on their money, may together take up an entire issue of securities. This, of course, would further restrict the supply of desirable investments available to the public.

(5) This trend toward the private sale of securities is now limited to bonds. However, the same thing could happen to new stock offerings. Fire insurance companies and investment trusts are big buyers of stocks. They are just as eager to get good stocks as life insurance companies are to get good bonds. They could easily suck a hole in new stock offerings if they should also decide to short-circuit the S. E. C.

Demand For Securities
Then there are also basic reasons why the potential demand for securities is greater than ever before: (1) Money available for investment is the most abundant in history. Banks, insurance companies, and individual investors have huge wads of cash ready for investment. Credit reserves are very large.

(2) Tax laws are forcing money into existing securities for there are few brand new issues. Such financing as has been done in recent years is almost entirely refunding of existing securities. New promotions are being discouraged by tight financing regulations, while heavy taxes on capital gains make big investors leery of putting funds into new enterprises.

(3) Elimination of tax-exempt bonds will be one of the biggest factors in pushing up corporate security prices over the next few months. I think that tax-exemption on new government bonds will be stopped. Many people who buy such bonds, because of the elimination feature alone, will prefer choice bonds and stocks of private companies.

(4) Interest rates are very low. The low rates paid at savings banks and on life insurance premiums and annuities, and the fact that no interest is now paid on commercial accounts, make many persons seek

New Operation Restores Use of Fingers, Association Is Told

BY STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer
Oklahoma City—Useless hands which are unable to grasp even a pencil now can be restored to normal by a new operation which transplants tendons from the toes to the fingers.

The operation, reported to the Southern Medical Association by Dr. H. V. H. Thatcher of Portland, Ore., is used to re-create fingers damaged by cuts, burns, infections or crushing. It has proved successful in a wide variety of cases.

Dr. Thatcher said that when the tendons of the fingers "which glide in tunnels just large enough to accommodate them" are severed or damaged it becomes impossible to move the fingers and the tendons must be reconstructed.

Before this can be done the tendon sheath, or tunnel, must be "rested and an effort made to restore its smooth gliding surface," he added. To do this he inserts into the tunnel a smooth and very small stainless steel rod, bent to the normal curve of the finger, through an incision in the palm of the hand.

This rod is left in place for three weeks. Then in a second operation a piece of tendon of the proper length is taken from a toe or wrist, stitched to the end of the finger inside, tied to the steel rod and brought back down through the tunnel, for stitching to the tendon in the palm of the hand, by merely withdrawing the rod.

Within two days the patient is able to move the finger and usually within six weeks has regained complete use of it.

Roosevelt Soon Must Name Federal Judges, Cummings Maintains

Washington —(AP)— Attorney General Cummings said Thursday the condition of dockets in federal courts throughout the country will make it necessary for President Roosevelt to name some new judges soon.

Some present vacancies will be filled before congress convenes in January, he said.

There are 22 vacancies in the federal judicial system, caused either by deaths of incumbents or by creation of new posts.

Under the omnibus bill approved by the last congress, there are vacancies in the Second, Sixth and Seventh circuit courts of appeal, the court of appeals for the District of Columbia, the Eastern and Western districts of Arkansas, Northern district of California, Southern district of California, two vacancies in the District of Columbia, Northern district of Illinois, Western district of Louisiana, Eastern district of Michigan, Eastern and Mid-

Would Abolish Tenure After Age of 70 Years

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — The welfare committee of the Wisconsin Education association today published a report which said it will propose an amendment to the 1937 teachers' tenure act to abolish tenure guarantees after the age of 70.

The committee also announced that it will "resist all other attempts to amend or repeal the law," and that a teachers' group would continue to work in removing some of the obstacles now confronting administration of the act.

die districts of Tennessee and in the Eastern district of Washington.

The death of Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo leaves one supreme court vacancy while other deaths call for appointments in New Jersey, Northern Ohio, South Carolina, Western Kentucky, Hawaii and in the Third circuit court of appeals.
